'Red Hilde' Outlaws Strikes in E. Germany

Hated Woman Minister Moves to Curb Rebellion

BERLIN (UP)—Strikes were outlawed today in revolt-ridden, Soviet-run East Germany.

The hated woman minister of justice, "Red Hilde" Benjamin, branded strikes "Fascist attempts to overthrow the government."

The East German Red regime attempted to sugar-coat this blow to hard-pressed East German labor with an announcement that Russia will help feed the food-short Soviet zone.

Russia has extended 231,000,000 rubles (about $57,000,000) of credits for food. But the East Germans will be required to repay the Soviets with manufactured goods and labor.

"Red Hilde's" harsh order is designed to assure that East German labor stays on the job to meet the Soviet bill for its help.

In a speech, reported today in the official Communist press, "Red Hilde" warned that jail awaits workers in Communist East Germany who use strikes to protest intolerable working conditions.

She repudiated a ruling made by her predecessor, former justice minister Max Fechner, that Communist workers have the right to strike. That, she said, was an evidence of "weakness which will be corrected."

Her action threw the threat of tough prison sentences over thousands of East German workers who participated in earlier strikes against Red industrial management.

A wave of flash strikes swept the Soviet zone of Germany following Fechner's conciliatory gesture of three weeks ago.

Fechner now is in jail facing charges as an "enemy of the state." He was replaced by "Red Hilde."

Statement Is 'Surrender'

Fechner's statement on strikes, she said, "surrenders to the enemy, gives leniency to provocateurs, spares criminals their just punishment and gives them the possibility to carry on their criminal work."

The former justice minister's strike ruling, made in an interview with the official East German news agency ADN, "caused the unrest to rise up again and caused our state great political and material damage," Frau Benjamin said.

Workers throughout East Germany have been striking and participating in slowdowns to enforce demands for release of comrades arrested in the June 17 revolt, liberation of political prisoners, and new trade union elections to oust Communist officials. Some also have voiced demands for the resignation of the government of Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl.

Since Frau Benjamin took over the justice ministry, Communist courts have imposed drastic sentences on anti-Communists in mass trials. ADN reported Monday night that 16 residents of the Saxony town of Niesky had been sentenced to jail terms ranging from 18 months to life imprisonment for taking part in last month's rebellion.

West Berlin Socialists said Frau Benjamin had 562 persons released by Fechner rearrested as rebels.

Russian Troops Battle Partisans

BERLIN (AP) — The West Berlin newspaper, Nacht Depesche, said today Soviet troops have attacked partisan bands made up of Poles, Czechs and Germans who seized two towns in a former East German region now part of Poland.

This followed a report in Telegraf, another West Berlin newspaper put out by the same company that publishes Nacht Depesche, saying Polish partisans fought a battle with Soviet troops last Thursday in a forest near Niesky, a German town 10 miles from the Niesse River frontier with Poland.

There was no confirmation from Allied sources. They recalled that previous West Berlin rumors of widespread Polish rebellion and martial law in Warsaw and Krakow had been discounted later by Western diplomatic missions in Poland.

This was the Nacht Depesche report: Russian troops supported by jet fighters attacked the partisans. The towns seized were named as Hennersdorf and Seifenhennersdorf, both near Hirschberg in the mountainous Riesenbirge area along the Czech-Polish frontier southeast of Goerlitz. A few renegade Russians have also joined the partisans.

The report in Telegraf: "Many Polish resistance fighters" were wounded and captured by Soviet troops in the battle near Niesky. Soviet military and East German police casualties were treated at Goerlitz.

Nesky broke into the news Monday when the Soviet news agency ADN disclosed 16 of its citizens had been sentenced to prison for burning down the local secret police headquarters and beating Red officials in the June 17 revolt.

New Truce Threat

Rhee Makes Fresh Demands on U.S.

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Wednesday (UP) — The United States today sent a new communication to South Korea's disgruntled President Syngman Rhee in a bid to lift his last-minute threat to balk the signing of a Korean armistice.

Everything else pointed to an early end to the two years of truce negotiations and the savage and costly Korean war.

In London, Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler told the House of Commons the West has hopes that "the agreement can be signed without further delay."

But U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned a Washington press conference Americans should be neither too optimistic or over pessimistic.

Dulles said the chances for a truce hinge on Communist desires for peace.

Sources here believed Rhee's position is equally or more decisive.

Rhee himself was maintaining an ominous silence. But his Foreign Minister Pyung Yung Tai said the South Korean government has sent an urgent cable to Washington demanding clarification of U.N. assurances to the Communists that South Korea will abide by truce terms indefinitely.

He said Washington's answer—now on its way—will determine whether Korea will stand by or renounce its earlier pledge to adhere to the truce.

In Washington, Dulles took the position that Rhee's promises to Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson bound him firmly and without qualification not to obstruct an armistice.

Dulles said he was not sure what the South Korean complaints are about.

Tot Wins Bee-Sting Fight

Stung 50 times by angry bees when she stepped on a nest while picking wild blackberries, three-year-old Karen Olson was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital last week-end in grave condition. But the little Beaver Lake Road girl has won her fight. She was well enough today to go home. Nurse Katherine Pagnan says good-bye to Karen. Hospital officials said it was the "closest call" they have had in numerous summertime mishaps so far this year. (Times Photo.)

Kelowna Miss Wins Canuck Beauty Title

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP)—A hazel-eyed brunette from Kelowna, B.C., with a yen for public speaking, horseback-riding and cooking is Miss Canada of 1953.

Kathleen Ann Archibald received top ranking among the 15 contestants at the Miss Canada pageant here Monday night and picked up a $1,000 scholarship to a dramatic school as well as a personal-appearance tour of Canada, a television audition and a free trip to the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, N.J.

Betty Billyard, 23, Niagara Blossom Queen, placed second and Gay Barron, 18, of Toronto, came third.

GASOLINE, FUEL OIL PRICES UP HALF CENT

Retail gasoline prices increased by half-a-cent a gallon for "regular" and almost a cent for "premium" at one leading oil company's outlets here today and other brand dealers are poised for similar price jumps.

In Victoria, Imperial Oil dealers commenced selling "regular" gasoline at 42 cents a gallon, an increase from 41.4 cents. "Premium" gasoline jumped from 43.8 to 44.5 cents at most stations.

Prices for light fuel oils are also advanced half-cent in British Columbia and 1.4 cents on the Prairies.

Imperial Oil Company announced from Toronto that price increases resulted because the company is forced to pay more for crude oil. In all provinces except B.C. the increase will be 1.4 cents for the wholesale gallon.

Officials said that other companies will probably follow suit in the next few days.

Shell Oil Company officials in Toronto said that they will probably increase their wholesale price by the end of the week.

PM Sees Ambassador To Vatican, Own Flag

St. Laurent Evokes Cheers, Applause With Speech But Warns Canada Not Ready Yet

ST. ANSELME, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent aroused cheers and applause Monday when he told federal election rallies in Quebec that some day Canada will have a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican and a distinctive flag.

Mr. St. Laurent, touring his native province of Quebec, told his listeners in the asbestos-mining town of Thetford Mines that the question of an ambassador to the Vatican is controversial and would raise "a religious quarrel" at present.

Later, in this ancient village in Dorchester county, he told a lively meeting of about 6,000 persons on the parish church gro is that the flag issue would be settled when everyone could agree.

Mr. St. Laurent said these politically controversial questions cannot be settled until there is agreement across the country.

WOMAN QUERIES

He did not repeat his statement on the appointment of a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican during the St. Anselme meeting.

But while another speaker addressed the crowd following Mr. St. Laurent's speech, a woman wearing a white shawl approached the outdoor platform and asked the prime minister: "Tell us about the ambassador to the Vatican."

Mr. St. Laurent looked at her briefly and resumed his listening posture.

When Veterans Minister Lapointe called for three cheers for Mr. St. Laurent, the woman joined in.

The meetings were the main events of a full day for the 71-year-old prime minister, who today begins his fifth day of campaigning in Quebec.

He will visit Nicolet on the St. Lawrence River south shore and then ferry across to the north side of the river for meetings of Joliettes and Shawinigan Falls.

Before an audience of asbestos miners at Thetford Mines, Mr. St. Laurent touched, although sometimes only in passing, on questions that have been lively in Quebec for the past few years.

It was the first time during his campaign that the question of an ambassador to the Vatican was brought up.

WELCOMED HOME

Margaret Dances On Roofs Until 4

LONDON (AP). — Princess Margaret celebrated her return from Rhodesia by gaily dancing on two London rooftops until 4 o'clock this morning.

The occasion was a welcome home party given the 22-year-old princess by the Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava at her tiny Knightsbridge apartment.

Because there was not enough room inside for dancing, the marchioness "borrowed" the flat roofs of a house and post office next to her apartment. Workmen erected two giant tents for dancing and refreshments.

The princess, who had apparently shaken off a cold caught while she was in Africa, danced right through the night and outstayed many of the guests.

Princess Margaret may yet win official permission to marry handsome Peter Townsend despite his divorce, a source close to Buckingham Palace says.

The informant, who cannot be identified further, said Monday the Princess has been told of government efforts to overcome constitutional objections to such a marriage.

"Princess Margaret obviously now is in a happier frame of mind," he added. "Every evening since her arrival home from an African tour last Friday she has spent at least an hour writing letters—and she is not ordinarily overfond of letter writing."

RAF Group Capt. Townsend, former equerry to the Royal household, was transferred to Brussels as air attache and left for the Belgian capital just 48 hours before Margaret's return. Some British newspapers charged he had been "exiled."

TO PREVENT OR WIN WAR

Campney Praises Canada's Expanded Defense Program

The efforts of the Department of National Defense have been bent towards preventing war if possible, and winning a war if there is one, Hon. Ralph O. Campney, associate minister of national defense and solicitor-general of Canada, told a meeting in Crystal Garden lower ballroom Monday evening.

Speaking in support of Dr. Frank T. Fairey, Liberal candidate for Victoria in the federal election, Mr. Campney decried "sniping, irresponsible criticism from the leader of the opposition and his supporters."

Said Mr. Campney: "The leader of the opposition has sought to play politics with our defense effort. A special committee on defense expenditure, set up at his instigation, could not bring a single charge or allegation of graft or mismanagement against the department of national defense."

Mr. Campney stated the defense department is responsible for the largest, most diversified, most complicated effort in Canada today, responsible for 50 cents of every dollar spent by the government.

He reminded the audience that continuous research and development is needed, because "obsolete weapons may mean disaster."

"We now have the largest, best equipped, and most effective defense force in our peacetime history," he said. "Opposition attempts to separate the civil administration of the department from the fighting forces are cheap efforts to pay lip service to the armed forces."

The issue of this election, he said, is a contest between performance and promises. The performance of the Liberal government in the past 18 years has led to the "greatest 18 years in Canada's history."

"If the Liberals deserve to be returned to power," he said, "it is on the basis of what we have achieved."

Mr. Campney reviewed the Liberal record, of leading Canada out of the depression; into, through, and out of the greatest war in history; a rehabilitation job on 1,000,000 veterans "not equalled anywhere in the world; and wise leadership through the greatest expansion period in history.

"Look at the leadership of the past in choosing the leadership of the future," he urged.

WIRE BRIEFS

Record Run

PORTLAND (AP) — The record run of blueback salmon continued Tuesday in the Columbia River. The run now totals 221,605, the first time on record that more than 200,000 bluebacks have gone upstream.

Ullyot to Kamloops

Shot in Street

SEATTLE (AP) — Wallace C. Travis, 51, a Boeing Airplane Co. employee, shot and killed his wife, Rowena, 45, before scores of horrified shoppers on a busy Seattle street Monday, then fatally wounded himself with the same .22 calibre revolver.

Loggers' Verdict Known Thursday

VANCOUVER (CP)—Official result of a secret ballot of 32,000 coast woodworkers on a unanimous conciliation board award in the IWAs major wage tussle with 158 lumber and logging operators will be announced Thursday.

George Mitchell, district secretary of CIO International Woodworkers of America, said today top officials of the union would meet Thursday to determine results of the ballot and that an announcement would be made "sometime that day."

BEE IN CAR—LEGS IN CASTS

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Mrs. Jean Gemmell was hospitalized today with two broken legs, and all because she shooed a bee out of her car window.

Mrs. Gemmell was driving along a Vancouver street when a pesky little bee popped in her car window. Her frantic attempts to drive it away caused her to leave the wheel for a moment. The car careened into a nearby telephone pole.

BIG FOUR PARLEY HOPE OF BRITISH

Butler Tells House Proposed Foreign Ministers' Conference May Be Prelude to High Level Talks

LONDON (CP)—Britain still hopes for a top-level meeting of the Russian, British, French and American heads of state, acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler told the House of Commons today.

Opening a two-day foreign affairs debate, Butler said Britain hopes the proposed four-power foreign ministers conference on the German and Austrian questions would be a prelude to talks at a higher level.

The proposal for a foreign ministers' meeting in September, to which Russia's reply is still awaited—was made at the recent Washington conference attended by the Marquess of Salisbury, Britain's foreign secretary, John Foster Dulles of the U.S. secretary of state and foreign minister Georges Bidault of France.

The proposal in no way excluded "talks of a wider scope either in personalities or topics," Butler said.

Ranging over a variety of topics, Butler made these points:

1. The Big Three foreign ministers conference in Washington showed that both Britain and the U.S. consider the maintenance of an effective base in the Suez Canal area is essential "in the interests of world peace."

2. Britain is "willing to resume negotiations" on the future of the Suez Canal "whenever the Egyptian government is ready to do so. Meanwhile, we remain resolute and patient."

3. Britain is "rigorously" carrying out the United Nations resolution of May, 1951, barring export of strategic goods to China. But it remained the government's policy to develop trade in non-strategic goods on the grounds that such trade was of advantage to the free world.

CHURCHILL STILL ILL

LONDON (UP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill must rest at least one more month before resuming his role of active leadership of the government, an informed source said today.

The source denied persistent reports that U.S. secretary of state John Foster Dulles had scored a victory over Britain's acting foreign secretary Lord Salisbury and sabotaged Churchill's idea of a four-power meeting at the highest level during the "Little Bermuda" conference at Washington.

"The reports are not true," the source said. "Dulles knows Churchill is not well. He knows he could not possibly take part in a four-power meeting. The old man still is not well. He wants at least another month to recover. In the meantime, Dulles knows we must tread water."

Canada Files Protest on Import Bans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada has filed a stiff new protest with the U.S. state department against proposed U.S. restrictions on imports of Canadian food and agricultural products.

A note delivered Monday raised objections to proposals submitted to the tariff commission this month affecting imports of oats and ground fish fillets which were described as products of traditional importance to Canada.

Enclosed with a note was a brief of testimony given before the commission by George McIvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board on July 8.

The note said that "traditionally harmonious relations" between the U.S. and Canada might be impaired by continuance of trade restrictions, such as have been imposed or proposed recently.

It was the third Canadian protest of the kind this year. On June 30 there was a protest against restrictions on dairy products, particularly cheddar cheese, which went into effect the following day. An earlier note objected to curbs on imports of dried milk from Canada.

B.C. Fire Controlled

CRANBROOK (BUP)—Heavy rains and hard-working fire crews brought a 1,000-acre forest fire southeast of this interior town under control Monday night and some of 300 smokeaters who had fought the blaze since July 12 were laid off.

Folks who're doin' th' most yammerin' about th' Princess' private affairs w'd be th' fust t' protest against similar treatment fer themselves.

CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW

Malenkov May Give Small Man a Break

(For 11 years Eddy Gilmore was AP correspondent in Moscow. He married a Russian dancer in 1943, at a time of wartime amity, and found out late in the 40s that the Soviet government would not allow her to leave that country with their two children. Only recently was this rule relaxed, and Gilmore was able to bring his family out. While they are en route to the United States Gilmore is writing a series of stories about Russia and his experiences there.)

By EDDIE GILMORE

PARIS (AP)—For the first time in years the Kremlin seems to be showing some concern for Ivan Ivanovich, the average Russian.

It's too early to say if this is because the party and the government sincerely want to do something for the people; or because they are afraid of the people, or for both reasons.

But things are happening. And if Georgi Malenkov and the others can hold the galloping Russian Troika in the road, and resist going for one another's throats, things are going to continue to happen . . . I mean things that will make life far easier for the Russian people.

Malenkov is pledged to raise the standard of living. The Russian people have heard that one before, but this time the party and the government are behaving as if it matters somewhat how the people feel about things.

Take the recent city-wide panic in Moscow. I do not believe this story has been reported to the outside world, for the censor was very active with his big Red pencil when I left Moscow.

Here it is:

Toward the last days of June the rumor got out of Moscow that the money was going to be changed again.

We heard it everywhere we went. Moscow had had one devaluation since the war. It was at the half-year, a logical time.

I'd seen devaluation, or reform as they called it, happen before in Moscow. The symptoms were the same. The people knew about it several days in advance.

The subways and the buses and the street cars had no metal money. During the last devaluation metal money was not changed.

Heated arguments took place on the subway. The conductors demanded metal money, or refused to give change. The people offered paper rubles, or three and five-ruble pieces. They'd get a ride and some metal money back in change. But the conductors weren't having any.

The commission stores and state pawnshops were packed and buying was brisk. Everywhere the people were saying: "Have you heard about it? Do you think it's going to happen?"

The last devaluation hurt Ivan Ivanovich plenty. Never a banker at heart, he kept his precious rubles at home. When the government devalued Ivan got one ruble for 10, a poor batting average in any league.

I looked at two banks. Long lines of depositors before the savings account windows. At the last devaluation, the folks who had their rubles in the bank got the new money at one new ruble for one old ruble.

It was a panic, all right, and finally the ministry of finance had to come out with a communique in all papers denying all idea of devaluation, or a change in the money.

That was a rare step. Under Joseph Stalin it would not have happened. The people would have been left to panic. But the Malenkov government assured them. Did it have to? Was it having to answer to a public opinion for the first time since Stalin got his steely grip on the nation? Or was it behaving as any normal government would under the circumstances of a city-wide panic?

You guess. I don't know.

British Charge Six Germans as Spies

BONN, Germany (UP) — Six Germans, including two women, have been arrested by British authorities on charges of spying for the Russians, it was announced today.

The British announcement of the arrests said the six will go on trial in the Ruhr industrial city of Duesseldorf Friday.

PC Defense Cost Claims 'Absurd', Says Claxton

MONTREAL (CP) — Defense Minister Claxton, speaking here Monday night, described some Progressive Conseravtive charges against his department as "about as dishonest a performance as we have seen in Canadian politics."

He said the Conservatives keep repeating statements about his department "knowing them to be untrue." They claimed it cost $22,035 for each member of the Canadian armed forces compared with $10,756 for each member of the United States forces.

He described the figures as "absurd."

He added:

"Presumably they arrive at some figure for the total defense expenditures in Canada and the total defense expenditures in the United States and then divide this by the number of men.

"Even if it were right, this is absurd arithmetic because total defense expenditures consist largely of expenditures on construction and major items of equipment like ships, aircraft, guns, radar stations and boom defenses, not in any way related to the number of men . . ."

AVERAGE COST $3,411

The average cost for each officer and man in the regular service this year was $3,411. This covered pay, allowances, subsistence, clothing, medical and dental services and government contribution to the pension fund.

In the case of total expenses on everything coming under the head of equipment—ships, aircraft, guns, tanks, motor vehicles, radar sets, arms, parachutes—the cost related to the number of regular service personnel was $4,500 in the United States and $5,700 in Canada.

"The difference between the cost in Canada and the United States is due to our expenditure on air power being greater in proportion to total expenditure," said Mr. Claxton. "Here we spend about 50 per cent of the total amount spent on the armed forces on air force, whereas the corresponding figure in the United States is 35 per cent."

VICTORIA LIBERAL MEMBER NEEDED SAYS CAMPNEY

The task of representing Victoria's interests in Ottawa were added to the duties of Hon. Ralph O. Campney, solicitor-general and associate minister of defense, when Hon. Robert Mayhew was appointed Ambassador to Japan.

The fact was brought out by Hon. John Hart when he introduced Mr. Campney to a campaign meeting for Dr. Frank T. Fairey in Crystal Garden Monday evening.

Said Mr. Campney: "It is time Victoria has its own member once more—and Dr. Fairey is the man for the job."

CCF LEADER SAYS—

CCF Only Party Offering New Order

HAMILTON (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell says the only way Canadians can get a government dedicated to the building of a new social order is to elect the CCF party in the Aug. 10 election.

He also said in a recorded broadcast over the CBC Dominion network that the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties "are financed by vested and privileged interests."

The broadcast was part of a meeting attended by about 350 persons in a school here. A portion of the meeting was recorded on kinescope film for televising later.

Mr. Coldwell said Canada "has put up with Liberal governments long enough" and since the Progressive Conservatives "are the same kind of a party" they would be no better. He added:

"The only way Canadians will get the kind of government that gets things done on behalf of the people—that places human needs before private profit—that means not just a change, but a change for the better—that is not just another government but a government dedicated to the building of a new social order—the only way Canadians can get that kind of government is to elect the CCF."

Although his party was yet to hold federal office, it "may justly claim to have improved the whole pattern of Canadian life." The CCF, and the men and women who preceded it, had played a leading part in the struggle for family allowances, unemployment insurance, the rights of labor, federal aid for education, and the abolition of legal appeals to the Imperial Privy Council.

LITTLE MEN DISAPPOINT

Flying Saucer Fails To Make Appearance

BRUSH CREEK, Calif. (UP) —A small but enthusiastic crowd clutching everything from 3-D color cameras to box Brownies—gave up hope of seeing a flying saucer and real live Mars men Monday night as darkness fell over the junction of Marble and Jordan Creeks.

"It's darn disappointing to me," said John Q. Black, a titanium miner who claims to have seen the saucer seven times before, the last two times on May 20 and June 20. "But my conscience is clear and I've got a good record."

Black and his partner, John van Allen, had predicted the saucer, manned by tiny four-foot men in forest green uniforms, would arrive at the junction of Marble and Jordan Creeks at 6.30 p.m., the same time of day it appeared before.

An estimated 300 persons scanned the skies near Brush Creek off and on throughout the day and Black had been confident up to the end that the little men would return for another bucketful of good Brush Creek branch water.

"I hope it comes tonight," Black had said earlier in the day, "because I want to show all these people that I'm not a liar."

"That thing could drift in through these limbs," Black said as he pointed at a tree in the canyon by the creeks. "You wouldn't hear anything. Anytime he wants to bring it in here and set it down, I'll use it. I'd go up in it."

Later, when darkness had ended any chance of seeing the mysterious disc, Black was asked if he expected to see it again this summer.

"I do," he said.

Historical Papers Returned to B.C.

QUEEN'S LETTERS

Historic Treasures Received

Official documents which nearly 100 years ago were sent by Queen Victoria, in London, to Sir James Douglas, in Victoria, will be treasures of the provincial archives from now on.

The documents, which somehow found their way back to London about 75 years ago, only recently were discovered in a storage vault there. Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace brought them back to Victoria when he returned from the Coronation.

Monday afternoon, at a formal ceremony at Government House, the lieutenant-governor turned over the valuable parchments to the province.

DOUGLAS' GRANDSON

Taking part in the ceremony were John Douglas, a grandson of Sir James; Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Willard Ireland, provincial archivist.

Most important document is the commission naming James Douglas governor of the Crown colony of British Columbia. This, bearing the queen's signature and a huge, yellow wax seal, was issued in 1858.

Killed by Lightning

TRENTON, Ont. (BUP)—Police Constable Allan Ormshaw was killed by a lightning bolt when he was caught in a field during a fierce electrical storm late Monday.

His worried family found him in a field after the storm blew over. His head was badly scorched and his clothes had been blown off.

Plea of Veteran May Save House of Widowed Mother

The inspired plea of an Esquimalt war veteran to save the home of his invalid mother from the wreckers' axe may have touched the hearts of the Esquimalt council Monday night.

The house, located at 510 Gore Street, was condemned by council, following its collapse from 60-year-old foundations last April 17.

A sleeping child in a buggy on a porch missed death by inches at the time, when the veranda roof crushed the buggy.

A letter read to council from the son of the elderly woman-owner of the property described the owner as an invalid widow of a First World War veteran who depended on the rental of the house.

The letter concluded . . . "I wore the 'King's uniform' in the Second World War in defense of this country and the things we hold dear . . . the privilege of a municipality to confiscate a widow's property was not one of them."

Council decided that if the writer could give proof of power of attorney for his mother and letters from reputable builders stating that the house can be safely rebuilt, the condemnation order will be withdrawn.

Armament Production Obsession, Says CCF

Liberals and Conservatives were held to be obsessed with armament production by Robert McIntosh, CCF candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, in a speech Monday at house meeting in Marigold.

"Capitalism seems to believe it can save democracy by the sword alone," he contended. "We have forgotten the millions who clamor for food, clothing and shelter."

"They ask for bread and we send them a bomb."

Mr. McIntosh said that if Canada's production was properly planned to eliminate inefficiency and waste, this country could share its wealth with the rest of the world.

"We could root out the basic causes of war and could banish depression, unemployment and surpluses here," he said.

"That is the challenge of the CCF to the Canadian people—are you prepared by planning, by co-operation, by living our Christian principles to end war, to abolish human misery and to build the co-operative commonwealth envisaged by Christ here and now on this earth?"

Mrs. Laura Jamieson, former MLA, spoke in support of Mr. McIntosh.

City Candidate Lauds Liberal Achievements

Frank Fairey Promises Campaign on Issues; Claims Opposition Has No Hope of Victory

A campaign "on the issues and without references to personalities" was assured by Dr. Frank T. Fairey, Liberal candidate for Victoria in the federal election, as he addressed voters for the first time in the Crystal Garden lower ballroom Monday night.

"I shall not impute motives which are unworthy and which should find no place in a campaign upon which so much depends," he said in his initial bow in politics.

Dr. Fairey, who was introduced by Hon. John Hart, former premier of B.C., stated he sought election as a supporter of the Liberal party and its policies.

"A man cannot belong to a party and divorce himself from the policies his party espouses," he added.

He assessed the issue upon which the election revolves in two parts: "The record of achievement of the Liberal government, and the fact no other party can hope to secure a majority of seats at this election."

ACHIEVEMENT RECORD

"We have weathered a depression; raised, equipped and maintained fighting forces during the greatest of all wars; re-established in civil life the members of those fighting forces without disruption to the national economy. We now find ourselves one of the three great trading countries of the world, growing in wealth and strength."

In Dr. Fairey's opinion, this had come about by "good fortune that we have abundant natural resources; by geography; by a virile, vigorous, industrious and skilfull people; and by good, sincere and stable management."

He stated the policy of the Liberal government through the war years and the re-establishment period as:

"Pay as you go . . . collect taxes during periods of business buoyancy, reduce the national debt in good times, provide all social services which are desirable and within our ability to provide; encourage freedom to expand; provide full employment at the highest wage level."

Dr. Fairey recalled the "brooding days" of 1947-48 when the cold war threatened to erupt at any time into a very hot one.

"The very people who are criticizing us today for an oversupply of boots and other gear are the ones who would declaim loudest if war had broken out and we had been caught short," he said.

Endorsing the government's policy on utilizing budget surpluses, he said: "If you owe a debt and have some spare cash, or, if you have a mortgage on your home and, at the same time, money in the bank, do you pay off or reduce your debt, and thus avoid interest charges, or do you leave the debt for your children to discharge and use your cash for additional services which you really cannot afford?"

The candidate referred to Canada's traditional two-party system of government, and said the voters' choice should be based on the record of performance and the proposed program and the quality of leadership.

"I suggest to you the record of the Liberal government, and the extension of those measures which have brought prosperity to Canada, is our best hope of a stable government," he said.

Paper Claims Wharf Timber Is From U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver newspaper in a front-page story said it had obtained confirmation that United States timber was used in B.C. government contracts for ferry landings at Salt Spring Island and public work at Swartz Bay and Fulford Bay.

The timber controversy was thrown into the federal election campaign last week by Harold Winch, CCF candidate in Vancouver East. Mr. Winch attacked the government for not stipulating that B.C. timber be used in the ferry contracts.

Later government officials denied Mr. Winch's charges and said B.C. timber was used but that creosoting treatment to preserve the timber had been done in the U.S.

The Vancouver paper said it had obtained confirmation that U.S. timber was used in the projects but added: "No officials were talking about it—officially."

Centralization of Power Issue Charged 'Bogey' by Tory Chief

THETFORD MINES, Que. (CP)—Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Monday night that Liberal speakers see the issue of centralization of power at Ottawa as a "bogey" being used by the PCs to frighten Quebec voters.

Addressing an outdoor crowd of 2,000 persons in this asbestos mining centre, 70 miles south of Quebec City, Mr. Drew said: "If Quebec is afraid of anything, it is certainly not a bogey because nothing is more real than the centralization of the Liberal party, which will surely lead you to a unitary state if you don't stop its advance next August 10."

now supporting provincial autonomy in the House of Commons," and described federal-provincial relations as "the issue

He said his is the "only party at stake" in the current election campaign.

Speaking in both French and English, he added: "If Quebec has anything to be afraid of, it is the 'centralizer,' the Liberal party."

We Can Stand This Ruin

OPPOSITION POLITICIANS who seem to think that Canada has been practically ruined by the St. Laurent government might glance for a moment over the latest monthly review of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

It reports, among other things, that Canada's industrial production is now at an all-time peak In April, the last month for which full figures are available, the production index stood at 256.1 as against 109.7 in 1939. In April, 1952, it was 230.7. And in April, 1953, it was up nine points from March. The May figure, when compiled, certainly will show a further advance.

In May employment also broke all records. The official index reached 184, as against 182 in April and 177.4 a year ago. Average weekly wages and salaries rose to $57.61 as against $54.34 at the same time last year. In 1939 the average hourly earnings of an industrial worker were 42.7 cents.

If this is ruin, as the opposition candidates are always telling us, we can stand a lot more of it.

Doctor and Friend

IN MORE THAN A HALF-CENTURY's practice in Victoria, Dr. Hermann M. Robertson had established a reputation which honored the community no less than himself.

Beyond his unquestioned abilities as a physician and surgeon—capabilities proved in innumerable instances in this city—he was possessed of those characteristics of leadership and competence which found recognition not only in medical ranks but in non-professional circles.

His was a distinguished career in medicine—a career recognized by the Canadian Medical Association both by his election as president in 1936 and by his appointment to senior membership a few weeks ago.

Yet it is not for the distinctions conferred upon him that he is so warmly remembered today. Victorians, paying him final tribute, were recalling the kindly doctor who had served many of them, thinking of him as the friendly man they knew who found time in a busy and successful life to bring them a measure of comfort beyond the professional skills he had mastered.

No Change in the Line

WHAT HAPPENED TO LAvrenti Beria and why, the world may not know for many years. As in the case of Leon Trotsky the real facts will be hidden to suit the convenience of the executioners. But already it seems clear that Beria's downfall and approaching demise do not mean any change in the peace offensive launched by Malenkov after Stalin's disappearance. For the moment the Russian government, whoever controls it, is seeking a pause of some sort in the cold war.

Sir Winston Churchill certainly is right in his wish to explore and, if possible, exploit this change in the Russian line. President Eisenhower is right also in demanding that Russia must give more than general assurances of peaceful intent. The real test of Russian policy is not what the Kremlin says but what it does.

If there is to be a Big Four conference its only useful purpose will be the discussion of specific issues, for their settlement alone can reveal Russia's actual intentions. Even settlements on the perimeter of the struggle will reveal Russia's intentions only in part. There has been so far nothing whatever to indicate that the basic Russian strategy has changed. The change, if there has been a change, is tactical.

That is why the new world situation, though offering some reason for hope, also contains serious dangers for the democracies.

By their unity and their rearmament they have compelled Russia to seek some kind of accommodation. If bargaining is now to begin the West needs all its bargaining power. Respecting only power and nothing else, Russia's objective certainly is to weaken the power of the West. It will succeed and it will win the struggle by retreating to advance again later if the democracies fall to quarreling among themselves, or if they dismantle their armed strength just because it does not seem to be needed at the moment. It will be needed so long as Russia possesses superior strength and refuses to disarm.

Land Taken for Roads

IN THE RECENT CASE OF THE naval veteran whose Helmcken Road property lies across the planned new highway route, the public has an example of a significant problem in road building.

According to reports, the naval veteran considers the government's offer for the road allowance and adjacent property, too low. Arbitration proceedings are indicated and presumably some tribunal will fix the value of the land to be expropriated.

Judged by past experience in similar instances, the authorities will acquire the property they desire. Whether the present owner will be satisfied with the compensation given to him is questionable.

Apart from personal considerations, two principles are in conflict in such disputes. One is the accepted belief that the wishes of the individual should not prejudice general public benefit. If there is a need for a road and no other suitable route for it, democratic procedure would favor expropriation for the benefit of the majority.

On the other hand, whatever the circumstances may be, the appropriation of a person's private property violates the rights of the individual.

At least some compensation will be given to the injured party in the Helmcken Road case. That is more than might have been furnished had the property been unimproved. In that event the government could have taken one-twentieth of the land without making any payment for it—as the government has done on occasions.

It may be argued that new roads almost invariably enhance the value of properties they serve. There are, nevertheless, occasions in which such improvements are protested by land owners who do not want them. To the injustice of loss of real estate—as much as one-twentieth—they have thrust upon them a road to which they object.

Obviously road building must proceed in British Columbia. Equally obviously such construction is going to hurt certain people. But in the interests of equity owners of unimproved property deserve a measure of consideration not given to them by the present law. Perhaps, in the interests of making "progress" in the form of road-building more acceptable to minorities, some revision might be made in the law to indemnify the owner of unimproved land for property taken away from him.

It's Her Life!

AS REV. CECIL SWANSON SAID in Toronto the other day, the publicity given in the scandal press of Britain to the private life of Princess Margaret is "sickening."

Princess Margaret is not the Queen and it is most unlikely that she ever will be. Her position in the state is quite different from that of the monarch, or the monarch's immediate heirs.

Under the constitution the people of Britain, through their Parliament and government, must consent to the marriage of the monarch. In the case of King Edward VIII, they rejected a marriage which they considered unsuitable. They were concerned with the institution of the Throne which, in their judgment, would have been damaged by the proposed marriage. But the Throne is not involved in the private life of the Princess, since she will not likely occupy it.

Moreover, not a whisper of scandal has ever touched the young man to whom the Princess is supposed to be attached. He has been divorced but was the innocent party in the suit. If the Princess wishes to marry him it is clearly none of the business of the government, of Parliament or of the public.

The public in Britain and throughout the Commonwealth no doubt will wish her to marry as she chooses and will hope for her happiness.

The institution of royalty has come to a sad pass indeed if a normal young woman, with no constitutional power in the state, must be discussed, hounded and made the butt of scandalmongers like some movie actress in Hollywood. The busy-bodies who are trying to interfere with her life and destroy her happiness are not defending the dignity of he Throne. They are damaging it throughout the world.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Written in Stone

IN the fullness of time a man, if he is worthy, graduates from wood to stone. And there is no return. I speak as a stone mason and former carpenter. Not a qualified mason, to be sure, not a member of the union, hardly more than an amateur, but at least one who has seen the vision and fixed it forever in stone.

Bruce

The vision will hardly be clear to the untrained observer — a few walls and some dozen yards of paving clumsily laid. Nevertheless, the great barrier has been crossed. I am working in stone and will never be satisfied with wood again.

WITH wood a man builds for the contemporary world, at most for posterity. With stone he is building for eternity. Thus ages hence, when every wooden building in this land has collapsed and joined the growing layer of compost on the floor of the primeval forest, when our civilization is drowned in peaceful verdure, some savage of a new race perhaps will stumble through the brush upon my stone walls. Then he will know that another man was here before him.

I should like to inscribe some message to my successor, to leave at least some mark that he can read. But after careful consideration, after planning a simple communication, graven in concrete, I have decided that it was both useless and unnecessary.

IT IS unlikely that the savage will understand the English alphabet and, besides, what is there to tell him? Nothing more than he can read without words—the endless labor, pursuit, failure and disappearance of our species upon the earth. Knowing that some man like himself was here before him, he will know everything there is to know, for none of the essentials will change.

So I picture that man in remote time, squatting beside my array of stone and trying to imagine who made it, when and why? If he is an intelligent savage he will know why since, no doubt, he will be building future ruins of his own as all men must, under an irrational compulsion which no one can explain. He will not know, however, what type of man did this absurd work or the conditions surrounding him.

HE would have to be a very remarkable savage indeed to imagine the kind of world we live in. Least of all could he imagine the savage state of our society which his own savagery can never hope to equal.

Still, I like to fancy that he will deduce, from the ragged and erratic shape of my walls, from the uneven surface of my paving, that the builder worked under a certain nervous strain, surrounded on all sides by enemies and in fear of imminent attack. And he will be right.

Every builder in stone these days is aware that the roof of the world may fall in on him at any moment, that his work may not escape the general explosion.

EVEN if he can shut his eyes to this larger peril, the stone mason, especially if he is an amateur like me, is continually assailed by his friends and neighbors, who offer their advice and comment free and never fail to gather in a staring multitude at the strange spectacle of a man at work. If I had charged even a nominal admission fee to all spectators who have watched these walls slowly rising (and complained bitterly at my slow progress as they drank my beer with rapidity) I could retire and devote myself entirely to these useful labors.

That is no matter. A stone mason does not buld for contemporary spectators. He builds, as I say, for eternity and eternity will understand.

OUR savage of the future, therefore, will guess immediately that a disordered age produced disordered masonry. "Clearly," he will say to himself in some wild, guttural tongue, "here was a man who was compelled to exist, as best he might, among his fellow lunatics at a moment of universal lunacy, of which our priests and historians have heard vague rumors. In this sudden twist and irregularity of the design I detect a passing crisis in the affairs of the tribe. Probably at that moment—about the middle of the 20th century I should judge—the community was convulsed by some political aberration, the choice of a new chief, probably, with wild dancing by the medicine men, hallucinations and human sacrifice.

"But," he will say, "the madness passed, the medicine men fell silent after their ecstasies, the old chief was evidently re-elected and order restored. Observe how, after one frantic summer of hesitation and confusion, the builder settled down again, the twisted wall straightened out and continued, firm and assured, to its end.

"BUT where," he will ask, "did it lead? Apparently it led nowhere. It just stopped as the trowel fell from the mason's tired hand. Assuredly this was a race of madmen. But the madness is finished at last and now all men are sane. Thanks to our superior culture and the blessings of science we no longer work, we have escaped the imprisonment of cities and houses, we have repealed the laws of economics, we have abolished the old evil of government, we have no budgets, money or living standard and we are free to live."

If he is the noble savage I take him for he will shed a silent tear or two for the fate of his predecessor in this wilderness, perhaps he will make his own little mark on these stones and pass on, a sadder and wiser man.

SAD and wise as he may be, he will hardly suspect the conditions under which my work has been done, in the presence of gawking crowds during a summer when every air wave and printed page is filled with the screams of the medicine men and the entire tribe is clamoring from coast to coast. I hope, though, that things will settle down pretty soon, that the wall will straighten out, that the savage will find a half decent job of work after this fitful fever.

Anyway, I am comforted meanwhile with the thought that, though none of these printed words will survive the night, that all words, even the most important and striking, have doom written on them in Heaven's chancery, still a wall of stone, wordless but full of meaning, will stand up and speak dumbly long after the mason has ceased his labors.

A Stamp To Be Cancelled

Calgary Herald

THERE is no use mincing words about this. The Canadian stamps are more than enough to make anybody physically ill, and the fact that they were issued at all is a national disgrace. The fact that we are being compelled to continue using them compounds and multiplies our sense of shame.

We think it highly improbable that in the entire history of philately such abominable monstrosities were ever foisted upon a defenseless public. To issue such horrible Things at any time should be enough to make Ottawa hang its collective head in shame, but to issue them ostensibly to honor the Queen at the historic time of her Coronation is more than flesh and blood should be asked to bear.

No only are Canadians compelled to use these Things, but museums and professional collectors all over the world are undoubtedly putting together complete sets of all Coronation stamps which will go down in history.

Never, we feel certain, has a country gone down so far in philatelic history as Canada has done this year. To think that this utter catastrophe of a postage stamp will forever stand as an example of the best that Canada can do is to take a heavy load on one's conscience.

Of all the Canadian Coronation stamps, the four-cent effort, the one of course most commonly used, stands in a category all by itself, and so it should. No other self-respecting stamp would be caught uncancelled in the same hemisphere with it.

The color is bilious, the design juvenile and totally uninspired, and as for the "likeness" of Her Majesty . . . perhaps the less said the better.

Putting it with all the mildness we can muster, which isn't much, we have seen untutored doodlers turn out better portraits than this. The person depicted on this diluted purple production has a too-prominent nose, has had an exceedingly poor job done of having all her teeth extracted, has a mean and inquisitive look, and is in need either of a shave or extensive plastic surgery.

It is not, by the maddest flight of imagination, a likeness of Queen Elizabeth II.

We can do nothing about history, for the shameful crime has been committed and cannot be washed out. But at least, we implore Ottawa, withdraw these Things immediately. Don't make us use them for the rest of the year.

SHAKESPEARE'S SOURCES

I am an octogenarian (plus) and have been greatly interested in the opening of the Stratford (Ont.) theatre producing plays by Shakespeare.

Since boyhood I have been interested in those plays, poetry and what little is known of his life. Judging from my own experience I cannot imagine how he acquired that vast knowledge, vitally necessary, to produce such magnificent work.

Would some authority have the goodness to enlighten us upon this question?

CANVEY ISLAND

May I say thank you to the people of Victoria and district who by their untiring effort and splendid organization made it possible for my daughter and her husband to refurbish their small home on Canvey Island.

Perhaps it would be as well to quote my daughter's letter:

"We have received approximately $300 from the Lord Mayor's Flood Fund, as have many other families on Canvey. I think the Canadian people are wonderful; they really get things done.

"The money we received made it possible for us to have our furniture reconditioned, crockery, a new bed, etc., Every family on the island received a beautiful new pair of sheets and four pillow cases from the Canadian Red Cross. Please say thank you one and all.

"The people on Canvey Island will never forget your very generous help that made it possible for ourselves and many others to start again."

On the night of the flood they sat on the kitchen table and waited for daylight, then with a blanket covering their night attire they waded three miles or more, at times waist deep in swirling, muddy water, until they reached a point where the Red Cross took over.

On July 11 they went back to their small home.

May I say in closing that I am proud and humbled by the continued generosity of the Canadian people who never cease to help a worthy cause, large or small. Thanking you for your co-operation.

MARX AND DOUGLAS

Some say Social Credit is a monetary theory, others that it is a salutary set of setting-up exercises for the soul. The The latter contend you don't have to understand the economic side of it. Just believe and you will be all right.

If you must know the non-theological mysteries of the doctrine there are those who will try to explain. The A plus B theorem of Major Douglas at first seems plausible, his analysis of money is like that of Karl Marx.

Marx said capitalists should not be permitted to produce, the workers should take over the means of production. He then ran into a theoretical snag. If the workers owned the machines they'd have to repair and replace them and such costs would have to go into the price to the workers.

Douglas said the thing to do is to print enough purchasing power at all times to buy all the goods produced, we would then soon monetize ourselves out of business.

Marx and Douglas remind us of puppy-dogs trying to catch their own tails. Marx quit trying but Douglas could go faster and in reverse too and seemed to think that if he chased his tail long enough he'd catch it.

It all depends upon your degree of faith, but if we keep chasing our monetary tail long enough we will get so dizzy it won't matter whether we catch it or not. So why worry.

SICK AND TIRED

May I refer briefly to the reported address of Rev. William Hills made to the Kiwanis Club. Your report states that he said if the human race is to be saved from destruction businessmen must give support to cultural and spiritual ideas.

And he instanced the recent election as evidence of a serious lack of "culture" and of "spiritual" ideas since he charged that people are more influenced by rumor, inuendo, and "demagogic appeal" than by an objective political program.

The Rev. gentleman neglected to instruct businessmen and others who might be interested just where or from whom these "cultural" and these desirable "spiritual" ideas are to be obtained. Did he suggest that he himself might be one of those delegated to furnish these so highly desirable qualities?

If so, might I remind him that just a year ago this same highly qualified parson said in an address to the Lions Club in the Empress Hotel that people were becoming very sick and tired of being kicked around. Now he calls this being-sick-and-tiredness a "rebellion against logical thought discipline." and says people have abandoned the guidance of a rational appeal.

Now this very able parson wants businessmen to support some more cultural and spiritual growth

Only these ideas of Parson Hills if accepted and supported by businessmen can be counted upon to "Save the human race from destruction." What we owe to men, to "apostles" like Mr. Hills, is very difficult to sum up.

BUDGETS

Re news item in Times of July 16, 1953: "Abbott Has Secretary File Income Tax."

I should like to comment, "Nice work and thank you, Mr. Abbott," for branding yourself and party. I am happy you have the light to see and know and admit you are through.

If you do not know anything about "household expenses" (as you admit), then you are not "my man" or "our man" to represent and set amount we should pay in tax.

I, as a housewife, could teach you how to pinch and shuffle pennies and balance the budget yearly and come out even (and owe no man, only God for His blessing and knowledge). I have been doing so for many years.

"FINE QUALITIES"

Having read the letter written by Edith Webster in a recent Times, I wish to say I do not agree altogether with what she has written referring to Canada.

She writes and I quote: "Canada will still remain a young nation, with her greatness and culture to be established and developed in the next thousand years."

We know, although Canada is a young nation, she is holding her own and during the Second World War supplied more clothes to the Canadian armed forces than any other voluntary organization and clothing as well to the Allies, also relief sent to Russia by Canada, relief sent to China, and large sums of relief to several other countries.

It doesn't take a noble soul to come from a long history as the letter has said, but rather more it is a gift from God. God bestows us with these fine qualities, some with more than others.

We are all dependent on one another, more or less, no matter what country we come from. Canada is my country and I love it. I know Mrs. Marshall personally who is mentioned in said letter and she is an English person herself, but has lived in Canada many years and has grown to like the country and she seems to me to like to judge liberally of any one. Canada doesn't have to get her qualities from any other race if they are true, but they are God given.

Poll Opinion

From Time

The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, Canada's Gallup poll, last week reported the choice of voters who expressed an opinion as follows:

47% for the Liberals.
30% for the Progressive Conservatives.
13% for the CCF.
8% for Social Credit.
2% for other minority parties.

This was no significant change from the last previous poll in mid-June. Some 16% of the voters said that they were still undecided, however, and the institute noted that "this group may have a decisive effect on the results, particularly if the gap between the two leading parties narrows between now and election day."

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

Are Canadians Dull?

ONE of my fem nine readers rang me up in a state of great indignation the other day over an article in a recent issue of Truth, a British weekly, which blasted Canadians as the dullest people in the British Commonwealth. And, after reading it, I fully share her resentment at its libel on Canadians.

Nancy

"How is it," the author, who signs himself Curious Citizen, asks, "that Canadians have got a reputation for creating a brave new world when all the evidence is against them?" He proceeds to list Australia's famous cricketers, including Sir Don Bradman, and her politicians, W. M. Hughes and Robert Menzies; New Zealand's Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Everest; South Africa's Cecil Rhodes and Smuts and —believe it or not—Dr. Malan; India and Pakistan's Gandhi, Jinnah and Nehru.

When it comes to Canada, the writer dismisses former Prime Minister Mackenzie King as lacking the dynamism of Hughes, Malan or even Beaverbrook. Stephen Leacock he condescendingly concedes to be "the best of Canada's comics, but his whimsy is now old-fashioned." And of our scientists he adds: "I would place their greatest scientist as Banting, the discoverer of insulin. But who else is there of world rank among their scientists?"

It seems a pity that "Curious Citizen" wasn't curious enough to learn a little more of the truth about Canada before he condemned us so wholeheartedly in that periodical calling itself Truth. He would have found that in the field of politics Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Lord Bennett, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent—yes, and Hon. Lester B. Pearson—have all left their marks on history, and each in his own way have certainly done more to foster the unity and well-being of his countrymen than has Dr. Malan.

Nor are we "dull" when it comes to scientific achievement. Besides Sir Frederick Banting, this country can proudly claim, among a host of others, Alexander Graham Bell, Sir William Osler, Dr. J. B. Collip, the dean of Western Ontario's medical school, who did so much of the basic work in the development of the wonder drug ACTH, and the scientists who were responsible for the best anti-radar equipment during the war—but whose identity was concealed under the cloak of security.

There wasn't much dullness, either, about the virile young airmen and soldiers and sailors who gave their lives for freedom on the battlefronts of the world. And Canada was well to the fore in her contributions of materiel as well. Nor should Curious Citizen overlook this country's marvellous contributions of millions of dollars to India and Pakistan, under the Colombo Plan, to say nothing of her numerous gifts to Britain in the common cause of humanity. There was nothing dull about that!

Space does not permit anything but the sketchiest rebuttal of that Truth—but not truthful—article and its slurs upon this new but growing country whose people have, from pioneer days, proved themselves anything but dull. But he has, perhaps unwittingly, done us one service—this is to remind us Canadians that in a world where more and more peoples are crying their wares from the housetops we, too, should spread the Canadian legend farther afield and tell the world a little more about ourselves and our achievements.

FROM BERLIN

By STEWART ALSOP

The Servant and His Reward

THIS is the story of how one man served the interests of the United States—and how he was rewarded.

The man in question is Gordon Ewing, state department foreign service officer, class three. He is a youngish man, with a hesitant manner and a small moustache. It does not often fall to class three foreign service officers to take independent decisions which might affect the course of history. But this was Gordon Ewing's peculiar lot.

Stewart

At 2.30 in the afternoon of last June 16, Ewing was attending a routine administrative meeting at the headquarters of RIAS, American radio station in Berlin, of which he is political program director. The meeting was interrupted by the incredible news that the workers in the Soviet sector of Berlin were staging a march on the Communist government buildings.

From this moment on, for 36 hours, Gordon Ewing had to take on his own responsibility a whole series of hair-raising decisions. The RIAS station is the official arm of the American government. As everyone knows, the Soviets have the physical power to take over all Berlin in a matter of hours.

PRETEXT FOR TROUBLE

Overt officially inspired American provocation to rebellion by the Germans against the Soviet occupying power might give the Soviets precisely the pretext they need to move on Berlin or to make the worst possible trouble for the American government in some other way.

As the afternoon of June 16 wore on, it became clear to Ewing that what was happening in East Berlin was no flash in the pan. A full-scale riot was in progress, Communist flags were being torn down, Communist police cars burned and wrecked.

At 4.30 in the afternoon, a workers' delegation from the Soviet sector appeared at the RIAS station and requested permission to broadcast an appeal for a general strike, to begin the next morning.

This was Ewing's first big decision. His superiors in Bonn and Washington did not know the situation, and there was no time to consult them anyway. A weakling might have ignored the workers' request, and continued the regularly scheduled broadcasts. A fool might have given the Soviets a valid pretext for any counter-action they wished to take. Ewing did neither.

He simply included, on the regular hourly broadcast, a deadpan straight news account of the visit of the strike leaders, and of their plans for a strike.

BIG DECISION

Then came a second big decision. Dr. Eberhard Schutz, star radio commentator for RIAS, a former Communist with a passionate hatred for Communism, submitted to Ewing the text of a brilliant commentary on events in East Berlin, ending on the note, "We hope we shall have more such victories to report."

Again, a timid man would have killed the Schutz commentary. Ewing pondered for a few minutes, and told Schutz to go ahead.

Ewing "broke" the regular schedule to devote all radio time to the uprisings. Towards midnight, an old friend among the American officials in Berlin telephoned Ewing and said: "Gordon, I hope you know what you're doing. You could start a war this way."

Meanwhile, all over East Germany, little groups of angry men were clustered around radios, listening as RIAS described the events of the day and the strike leaders' plans for the next day.

On June 17, the incredible happened. In city after city the workers rose, chased the terrified Communists out of their offices and took over the cities.

BOLDLY APPROVED

The incredible could not have happened without the RIAS broadcasts which Ewing boldly approved. By nightfall on June 17 Soviet troops and tanks had crushed the uprisings, but at a terrible cost to the Soviet Union for which Lavrenti Beria was to pay dearly. By the morning of June 18, Gordon Ewing was tired, for he had not slept for two full days and the kind of lonely courage he had displayed is peculiarly exhausting. Before leaving his office for a rest, he glanced at the American wire service reports.

Gordon Ewing, he read, was one of the "pro-Communists" whom Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy meant to "take by the scruff of the neck." So, McCarthy hinted darkly, was Ewing's wife.

In a way, Ewing was not entirely surprised. McCarthy obviously meant to use the brilliant Schutz to prove his charge that RIAS was "run by Communists." As for Ewing's pretty wife, her eccentric stepfather had taken her as a child on a trip to Russia—and this was grist for the McCarthy mill.

Finally, Ewing knew that a German journalist-adventurer, whom he had fired from RIAS for his inability to distinguish fact from fancy, had been pouring poison into eagerly receptive American ears.

IN LIMBO

As this is written, Ewing exists in a sort of limbo. McCarthy had not yet made good his threat, and the State Department had not yet offered Ewing up to McCarthy as a blood sacrifice, as in the case of Charles Thayer, Theodore Kaghan and other able men here in Germany. But the pattern is very familiar.

It is now generally accepted practice here, for example, to encourage any disgruntled foreigner to blacken the reputation of any American officials. Surely, these days, the United States has an odd way of rewarding courage and intelligence in those who serve the interests of the United States.

School Plans Delay Draws Trustees' Ire

Notification by Wade & Stockdill, architects, that plans and specifications for the projected Lansdowne Junior High School will not be ready for tender before Sept. 4 was received with ill grace by the School Board Monday.

Senior School Inspector J. F. K. English told trustees the plans had been promised for July 31, the school itself being needed for occupancy by September, 1954.

A letter from the architects, sent at the suggestion of Mr. English, said the delay was due to difficulty in co-ordination with consultants, changes in requirements by the fire marshal and the addition of a home economics room.

"A senior partner in the firm, I understand, is taking a trip overseas," said Trustee A. J. de Bourcier. "I think in the circumstance he should have postponed it."

Said Trustee Humphry Golby: "We put these people on their feet, they should co-operate with us."

The architects will be advised of the School Board's disappointment at the delay and will be urged to make all possible effort to cut down the time.

Indian Art Decline Claimed by Official

Indian Affairs Department Partly Blamed for Interest Lag at Show

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A charge that certain officials of the Department of Indian Affairs in British Columbia are partly responsible for a decline in Indian art in British Columbia, was made Monday by Lt.-Col. G. Howland, past president and a member of the B.C. Indian Art and Welfare Society.

Col. Howland made the charge after viewing some 241 entries at the society's annual school and adult art exhibition which opened at the Provincial Museum Monday.

The paintings and designs on display are below the standards of other years, said Col. Howland, and this indicated that B.C.'s native art, famous throughout the world, is dying out.

NO CO-OPERATION

He blamed certain officials of the Indian Department for this state of affairs. He said they discouraged Indians from taking an interest in their culture and did not co-operate with the society to promote native art.

"A society can't do much without the co-operation of the department," said Col. Howland. "After all, all Indians come under the jurisdiction of the department."

Col. Howland in the past has been a champion of Indian reforms. He resigned as president of the society a few months ago following a disagreement with the society's executive over policy matters. He is also largely responsible for getting B.C. Indians certain educational reforms.

Col. Howland's views have started a controversy among members of the society. While all members do not agree with him, most will admit that this year's exhibition is below standard. Four main awards for the best art work were not given this year because the work was not up to standard.

FAST DISAPPEARING

Colin Graham, curator of the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria, thought that while some vestige of Indian art is still alive it was fast disappearing.

"It does look like Indian children are now being taught how to paint butterflies and daisies," said one member. "I think this is partly due to the way art is taught in the schools."

In the past many native children drew original Indian designs and motifs good enough for use by the textile industry. Others drew scenes from Indian life.

One of the best known pupils to take part in the society's annual Indian exhibition was Judith Morgan. Her works were acclaimed by artists throughout Canada. Some of her paintings now hang in the National Art Gallery in Ottawa.

The exhibition was opened by H. L. Campbell, deputy minister of education, at a ceremony in the Provincial Museum.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Fast Wheat May Open Up New Grain Land in Canada's North

EDMONTON (CP)—Nurseryman E. W. Manchester thinks he has licked 25-1 odds in developing a new wheat strain to push Canada's agricultural frontier farther north.

Tests of the wheat, said to mature about 92 days after seeding, are being made at the University of Alberta here. The average period between seeding and harvest is 100 days plus, depending on climate and weather conditions.

Manchester developed the wheat at his nursery near the town of Jarvie, 80 miles north of Edmonton. If successful, it can be used in large areas of northern Canada where there is much arable land, but a short growing season.

The wheat, a cross between Marquis and Red Fife, is called Early Harvest. Manchester has been growing it for 16 years. He is also working on four other strains.

He had to brave the red tape of officialdom to get the tests made.

The grain was finally taken to the university.

Dr. A. G. McCalla, dean of agriculture here, warns against raising hopes too high. Experience shows the chances of breeding a new wheat to meet export standards are about 25-1.

Any new strain must be resistant to rust, an annual hazard to growers. Three years of testing are necessary before a definite recommendation can be made by the university. Then another three years are required for testing on a national scale before the seed can be registered.

Manchester says the yield last year was almost 50 bushels an acre on ground that was not fertilized. He expects to harvest his crop this year at least three weeks ahead of wheat in commercial use.

MOCK HOLDUP

HIGH PRAIRIE, Alta. (CP)—Like a climactic moment from a western movie, a band of masked horsemen "held up" a bus loaded with 20 members of the Alberta Legislature Monday.

The "desperadoes" turned out to be members of the board of trade of this town, 175 miles northwest of Edmonton.

After charging the MLA's with driving the bus over a cattle trail, the horsemen escorted them back to town for a fish fry. The legislative party will tour Peace River Tuesday.

Under old English statutes, counterfeiting was a form of treason.

Alberta Oil Output Is All-Time Record

CALGARY (CP)—Production of Alberta crude oil jumped to an all-time high of 265,465 barrels daily in the week ended July 13.

This production from 4,104 wells was 26,365 barrels a day greater than the previous record of 239,100 barrels daily from 4,043 wells, set in the week ended June 22.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARY

Oils Fade Despite Crude Price Hike

TORONTO (CP) — Prices mixed within a narrow range toward the close of today's uneven session of stock market trading. Industrials swapped gains and losses evenly although strength in some leaders produced a minor index rise.

Golds were forward in quiet dealings while base metals eased.

In uraniums two out of three issues traded lower.

Western oils faded gently in active trading despite a crude oil price hike of 26 cents a barrel by Imperial Oil and indications B.A. Oil would follow suit.

Dome Explorations and Del Rio dropped 20 cents each while Gridoil and Canada Southern had lesser losses. Canadian Atlantic countered the trend with a 15-cent rise.

Traders said the Canadian price increase announcement was long overdue and that the market took it for granted when American producers upped crude prices about a month ago.

Wall St. List Sags

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices inched lower today in the stock market with trading stagnant.

Steadiness was displayed by many leaders in railroads, utilities, steels, motors, chemicals and aircrafts, but all of these divisions were weighted by minus signs.

American Standard Fairly Active, Up 2

Moderate activity in American Standard was a feature on Vancouver stock exchange today. At noon the shares were marked at 21, up three.

Mixed and Sluggish

MONTREAL (CP)—A narrowly irregular trend ruled the stock market during afternoon dealings. B.C. Power B, Monday's leader was inactive.

Utilities, steels and miscellaneous industrials were a little stronger while senior metals and senior oils were easier. Papers were mixed.

London Irregular

LONDON (Reuters)—Active interest was light on the London stock exchange today. Business and price movements were irregular. Gilt-edged turned a shade easier. Foreign bonds improved. Industrials were irregular and oils held steady. Mines were idle.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 63s 6d, Boots Pure Drug 20s 1½d, Canadian Pacific $46½, Central Mining £1¾, Consolidated Goldfields 45s 3d, Courtaulds 42s 7½d, Hudson's Bay Co. 94s 4½d, Imperial Chemical 45s, Imperial Tobacco 53s, Metal Box 59s, Mexican Eagle 21s 6d, Rand Mines 62s 6d.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols £60⅝, British 3½s War Loans £81⅝, British Fundings 4s 1960-1990 £101 9/16.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices moved narrowly in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, showing a firm undertone. Firmness in U.S. markets was reflected in early trade.

Export loadings in wheat included: United Kingdom 2,000,000 bushels, Belgium 50,000, Germany 40,000, Pakistan 50,000 and Japan 645,000.

Prices of top grades Class Two wheat were 1 cent higher. IWA and domestic prices were unchanged.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

By E. McLEAN, Times Business Editor

Not a Bear Market But Even Bulls Are Gloomy

Heads hung low in the bullish ranks of Wall Street today, reports Elmer C. Walzer, United Press financial editor.

The New York pundit writes:

If one could understand bull talk, he'd be able to translate into English such statements as "the market's performance has been very disappointing." "Stocks go down much easier than they go up." "It looks bad for the list now that it has failed to carry on last week's late recovery."

Also it was noted that the market pays much more attention to bad news than it does to good news.

Gloom was so great in the ranks of the bulls that the poor bears with dollars in sight were frightened. "Too much unanimity," they said. "There might be a rally."

The conservative experts aren't convinced there will be a rally or that there won't be a rally, but they feel the rallies that do develop aren't going to be as impressive as the declines they expect to follow.

So there is the solution, and to many it looks like surrender. Up to now the bulls had been keeping a stiff upper lip and talking optimistically.

Now they talk as pessimistically as one would expect a bear to talk.

One of the more optimistic in the ranks of the market counsellors thinks the present type of market could go on into autumn.

Asked if he thought this was a bear market, he said:

"If it is, it won't be a very big one."

William R. White, analyst for Hornblower & Weeks, suggests that another D-day is rapidly approaching—"time for investors to decide whether momentous international events or corporate developments are sufficiently dynamic to warrant portfolio changes.

"Decisions at this season have greater significance than usual because trends established in July often have a way of forecasting the market pattern for the remainder of the year.

"Perhaps such behavior finds an explanation in the fact that businessmen begin placing orders for autumn and holiday deliveries in June and July, and their optimism or pessimism is registered with manufacturers by the volume of their purchases.

"This mass judgment helps determine business prospects for the normally active fourth quarter. Thus far this month, fluctuations have lacked a definite trend."

Esquimalt Planning More Road Projects

Hiring of a consulting engineer and letting of tenders for additional road construction in Esquimalt are highlights of increased roads programs disclosed at a municipal council meeting Monday night.

The Colville Road wartime housing area is to be included in the construction speed-up. A consulting engineer will be hired for improvements there.

Tenders will be let for blasting and hauling away a rock bluff on Lampson Street between Munroe and Bewdley Streets.

A report from municipal engineer J. Graeme said that preliminary drainage work has already been carried out in the Colville area. He added that work on Macaulay Bend was rapidly progressing.

A letter was received by council from George E. Bennett, resident of 20 Quincy Street, calling for greater development of Saxe Point Park as a tourist attraction.

Mr. Bennett lauded councils' earlier improvements there and suggested that the park be renamed "Coronation Park." Council will consider the change and the installation of garbage containers in the park area.

Councillor's Gas Station Obeying Law

A police check of an Esquimalt service station reported to be operating in violation of municipal by-laws has revealed the premises to be within the law, it was learned Monday night.

Charged recently with violation of evening closing regulations was co-owner, Councillor G. F. Argyle.

The charges were made in a petition signed by other service station operators at Esquimalt and presented to council two weeks ago.

The matter was referred to the police at that time.

Monday night the police chief reported to council that the service station has been under observation and complies in every way with the regulations.

Council voted to advise the complainants that proper procedure is not a petition but a report to the police.

Clr. Argyle told the council that the petition came after three complaints had been registered with the police.

Because police investigation had found the garage closed on each occasion the complainants had heard nothing more and had assumed that the matter was neglected, he said.

Red Tape Cut for Mental Health Job

Red tape was cut by the B.C. department of education to permit the appointment of Mrs. J. M. McMinn as mental health co-ordinator for the Greater Victoria School Board.

Mrs. McMinn, school trustees were told Monday night, had a high academic standing and superior training and experience in the work she would be required to do for the board. She did not, however, possess a teaching certificate.

Senior Inspector J. F. K. English said the department had issued a temporary certificate to meet the situation.

Seattle Paper Strike

SEATTLE (AP) — The strike of the American Newspaper Guild CIO against The Seattle Times continued for the sixth day Tuesday.

The amount of wage increases was the main issue.

The strike has left this city of 500,000 without an afternoon newspaper. The management announced indefinite suspension of publication the first day of the strike as printers and pressmen observed the picket line and stayed outside. No new conferences have been scheduled.

More Money For Esquimalt Councillors

An increase of $100 annually was awarded reeve and council of Esquimalt Monday night when the municipal fathers finally passed a by-law that has been on the books since February.

Salaries for council will be $400 a year, retroactive to January 1, while Reeve A. C. Wurtele will receive $1,000.

Increases were introduced on February 16, at which time they were opposed by Councillor J. Carey on the grounds that 1953 estimates were too demanding.

Monday night he again sought to lower the amount of the raise with an amendment that council receive $12 a meeting attended, for a total of $324 annually.

But no one would second his suggestion and the by-law was passed as presented.

Proposed development of residential lots on Hadfield and Greenwood Avenue was disclosed to be more expensive than was expected and the matter was tabled for further study.

Municipal Engineer John Graeme reported it would cost $30,450 to provide essential services to 15 undeveloped lots on Hadfield and $29,663 for similar development of 28 lots on Greenwood.

Queen Scout Describes Trip To Huge National Jamboree

In Ottawa this week to attend the Second Canadian Boy Scout National Jamboree are 25 Boy Scouts, three leaders and a Rover Scout, all from this district. Describing the journey and the huge camp for the Times is Queen Scout David Helgesen, Rocky Point Road.

By DAVID HELGESEN

July 14—The Scouts from Victoria District assembled at headquarters Tuesday afternoon and marched down to the Parliament Buildings for a send-off. The boat trip was uneventful except that it started to rain as soon as we came in sight of Vancouver.

We disembarked and assembled on Granville Street with other Scouts from southwestern B.C. We marched up to the Courthouse on Georgia for the official B.C. sendoff.

We were back in time for the train departure at 8.30 p.m.

A box lunch was served on the train before bedtime and some of us who couldn't sleep watched the Fraser and Thompson River canyons.

July 15—We awakenad while the train was stopped at Kamloops and learned the tracks were washed out in the Rockies. The train crossed the river and took the only alternative route, a branch of the CNR.

We went up the North Thompson to its end, then through dense and rugged country to the headwaters of the Fraser and on through to Jasper. It cost us 15 hours' delay but gave us a wonderful chance to see more of our home province.

We have meals at tables on the train and sleep in bunks which are seats in the daytime. There are two boys to each section as part of the ceiling folds down to form an upper bunk. Traveling conditions are very satisfactory.

Boy Stay Ill To See Idol

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A boy told his parents why he was suddenly able to walk after the Lone Ranger, a kid cowboy favorite, visited James Whitcomb Riley hospital.

Frank Snell, 7, Terre Haute, Ind., whose legs were burned in an accident, confessed he's pretended to be sicker than he was so he would not be sent home before the Lone Ranger came.

Jaycees Sponsor Driver Instruction in Schools

Automobile driving lessons which may become a regular part of the new-term high school course of study for grade 12 will be sponsored here by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Jaycee member Norman Johnson said the group will co-operate with high school principals to offer instruction in safe driving habits, traffic control and provincial traffic law.

Leading students will be given actual driving experience.

Cost of the project will be $15 per student to be paid by the Jaycees, and $10 to be paid by the students themselves.

The Jaycees also intend to set up a traffic and safety council, Mr. Johnson said, which will probably be in operation next year.

Capt. James Cook, famous English navigator, was apprenticed to a haberdasher at the age of 12.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

THE WEEK-END IN REVIEW—or the hottest rumor about town is that Vancouver Capilanos want Tyee shortstop Jim Clark and that Clark is ready and willing to accept the change. . . . If it comes about, it could be that Chuck Davis will be the Tyees' shortstop. . . . Tyee general manager Reg Patterson is likely holding out for more than Davis and cash, however, and if the Caps agree to his terms, Clark may be a Vancouver resident in the future. . . . At least the Tyees can dictate the terms with Clark as the prize. . . .

And too, if anyone is still in doubt—which they shouldn't be—Robert Hew Fergusson-Pollock of Duncan DID invest the $20,000 he said he would in the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. . . . However, even that generous investment can't offset the fact that Tyee attendance is down 30,000 this year . . . a marked improvement is necessary for the club to keep its head above the troubled financial waters it has been immersed in these many moons . . . the roving rumor also has it that Muzz Patrick has offered, for a reasonable stipend, the use of some of his Tacoma Rockets of last year to father Lester and the Cougars. . . .

Walker

Muzz, meanwhile, will direct the Seattle Bombers this year . . . the recent puck trade whereby Emil Francis goes to the Cleveland Barons and the New York Rangers secure Cleveland's Johnny Bower, could mean that either Francis will perform for Seattle or Lorne Worsley for Saskatoon depending on how Bower performs for the Blues. . . Cleveland has a working agreement with the Seattle club, while New York and Saskatoon are tied up in a similar deal. . . . The ladder derby committee had their own private little fish derby Sunday, but it took Solarium Derby committee chairman Wes Fulton to prove the master . . . his 6½-pounder took top honors. . . . The ignominy of the situation to the ladder derby crew is that chairman Andy Anderson's boat was disqualified for having too many lines out, Anderson having qualified earlier and not being eligible to fish in Sunday's test. . . .

* * *

Jokers' boxla coach Roy Woolsey will spend the next two weeks at Halcyon Hot Springs, in the Arrow Lakes district, partly vacationing and partly for health reasons, but he left town with a sour taste in his mouth. . . . Roy claims that he wasn't notified of the city league meeting at which Andy Hebenton was suspended and that neither was Hebenton . . . that's why the Jokers weren't represented. . . . Doug Anderson's reported comment when he heard he wasn't coming back to the Cougars this year and, after seeing the tentative roster of the Cats, was: "They look good—too good." . . .

* * *

SOCIAL DEPT.: Wedding bells will be ringing soon for such athletes as Anderson, Reg Abbott, Whitey Severson, Larry Booth and Bob Anderson. . . .

* * *

It certainly was a fine gesture on the part of the Duncan Baseball Club to help the Wally Thompson Benefit Fund along with a $50 donation and also for turning over all gate receipts from last Sunday's twin bill with the Eagles . . . in respect to diamond dust is the news that Bill Garner of Farmer Construction of the city league has accepted a baseball scholarship to the University of Oregon, the same institution where Norm Forbes spends his winters. . . . Congratulations, too, to Dot Hebertson and Shirley Fry on their selection to the B.C. women's golf team. . . . the Gorge Vale brats have come a long way in the past few years.

* * *

Ernie Fox, former hockey and lacrosse public address announcer and basketball star, is doing well for himself in the RCAF his friends will be pleased to learn. . . . Ernie ranked first in his most recent test, "passed with distinction" as they say in the service and was recommended for staff college . . . he is currently stationed at Foymount, 100 miles north of Ottawa along with Darrell Popham, the former Shamrock lacrosse player. . . .

Six Ladder Trailers Bounced From Derby

The bottom part of a fishing derby ladder can be as shaky as a one-legged chair and six anglers discovered this fact, to their chagrin, Monday.

The six were knocked off the seventh weekly ladder of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association by some of the 16 fish weighed in Monday and will have to buy another ticket and catch another fish if they hope to take part in the big fish-off Aug. 23.

Unofficial results for seventh week (ending tonight) follow:

64-POUND SPRING HOOKED ON TROUT LINE

Harry Piper, cook at Comox Air Base, might feel like hunting lions with a butterfly net this week.

He'd have every right to feel ambitious as he conquered a 64-pound spring salmon last week using the lightest tackle possible, spinning rod and reel with light trout line.

Piper hooked the monster off Little River Fishing Camp on a 4½ Tom Mack spoon. After an extended battle, Piper landed his once-in-a-lifetime prize and found that it measured four feet in length and weighed in at 64 pounds.

Bays Take City Title

James Bay won the championship of the 16-and-under baseball league over the week-end when they defeated Speedway Auto Sales 12-7.

The victory was the 21st in 22 games for the winners and gave them the best-of-five series, three games to one.

Keith Todd was the winning pitcher, striking out 11, while Terry Campbell absorbed the loss.

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League Monday announced acquisition of 27-year-old Roy Kelly, a forward from Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League, for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Junior Rocks Beaten

Bow to Salmonacs In Season's Debut

New Westminster 12
Shamrocks 7

By DENNY BOYD

Considering that it cost only 35 cents, a whale of a lot of people missed a whale of a lot of lacrosse at Memorial Arena Monday night.

Coaches Archie Browning and Sarge Sammartino took the wrappings off their Victoria Junior Shamrocks and the product, while it was viewed by a small crowd, was a pleasing one.

Handicapped by the fact that they were playing seven-man lacrosse for the first time this season, the junior Irish put up a valiant battle before bowing to the potent New Westminster Juniors, 12-7.

The victory was the 16th in a row without a defeat for the well-coached New Westminster club, but was hard come by as the local juniors showed their best form in the middle periods.

CAUGHT UNAWARES

Informed only minutes before the game that they would have to play seven-man lacrosse rather than the six-man game they had been practicing, the Shamrocks were behind the eight-ball from the start.

However, a stout zone defense and superb goal-tending by Chummy Crabbe kept the local club in contention until they faded late in the fourth quarter.

Ed Longpre gave Victoria the early lead when he rolled neatly around his cheek to score at 43 seconds. However, a penalty to rugged Al Davies blew up in the Irish faces and they were on the short end of a 3-1 score at quarter-time. The Irish shook off their first game nervousness in the second quarter and split eight goals with the visitors, trailing 7-5 at the half.

NERVOUS PERHAPS

Spectacular goals by Ross Rosskamp and Don Sherry brought the Victoria club to within one goal of the flashy visitors in the third frame, but disorganized shooting kept them from taking the lead, although they held a fair share of territorial play.

Sparked by the crafty playmaking of Max Skinner, the visitors salted the game away in the fourth quarter, scoring three times without a reply from the local club.

Crabbe was the brightest light for the losers, blocking 34 shots in a busy goal while Rosskamp scored two of the prettiest goals of the night. Hit in the mouth with a stick, he had his store molars shattered in the second quarter but finished the game.

Boating a 32-Pounder Shamrock Boxla Style

During the current lacrosse season the Victoria Shamrocks have made a practice of whipping the New Westminster Salmonacs.

But Sunday a couple of Victoria Shamrocks applied the same formula to a plain ordinary Vancouver Island salmon and came out on top.

Shamrocks Mel Davison and Jackie Thompson were fishing at Eastpoint, off Sidney, on Fred McLeod's cabin cruiser, the Nirvana, when Davison hooked a 32-pound spring.

After a half-hour battle, Davison subdued the brute and brought it alongside where it was found that their landing net was far too small. They had no gaff.

The technique that boated the fish had two members of the party hold Thompson's legs and lower him over the side. He grasped the fish by the gills and both he and the protesting salmon were hauled into the boat.

Davison was using 75 feet of wire line, four ounces of weight and a Mac's Squid plug. The party, which also included Ab Etherington and Gordon Winters, also caught seven large bluebacks.

Gasmen Near League Title

Capital City 7, Butler's Aces 4

Capital City Servicemen moved a step closer to clinching the championship of the Senior A Men's Softball League Monday night at Central Park, defeating Butler Bros. Aces 7-4.

Gasmen have only two games left and at present are five points ahead of second-place Chinese Students. Students have four games remaining. A win for the Gasmen with a loss for the Students will put the former out of reach.

Aces are destined to finish up in third place while Navy will be the fourth team in the playoffs.

Aces gave some of their regulars a rest Monday, and their third man on the mound staff, Ralph Bonner, started on the hill. Bonner was hit hard by his ex-team mates, and finally went out in the fifth inning after giving up six runs and nine hits. John Furmston finished up.

Aces held the lead after the first inning when they sent eight batters to the plate and managed to push two runners across on two singles, an error and a wild pitch.

The Gasmen came back with two runs of their own in the top of the second on three straight singles, and scored the tie-breaking tally in the fourth inning when Fiori Goegan singled, stole second, advanced to third on an error, and scored on a second error.

EXTRA BASE POWER

A two-run triple by Les Wilson and a follow-up single by Gus Hilton drove Bonner from the mound. Winners picked up their final run of the game in the eighth on a long home run by Bernie Clarkson.

Tonight at 6.45 Navy will meet Chinese Students at Central Park.

Salmonacs Nip Tribe In Overtime Battle

New Westminster 11, Indians 8

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—New Westminster Salmonacs upset the dope bucket Monday night when they defeated PNE Indians 11-8 after one period of overtime in an Intercity Lacrosse League game.

Salmonacs scored four times in the 10-minute overtime period while holding the second-place Indians to one goal.

Indians led 6-3 at the half but with two and a half minutes left in the game they were down 7-6. Ken Jones finally beat Harry Preston for the goal that sent the game into extra time.

Ernie Borgstad scored the winning goal for Salmonacs after Bert Houston had given them an 8-7 lead in the first two minutes of overtime.

Cafemen Victors

Strathcona Cafe of the Colwood and District Softball League trounced Marigold, 19-8, in a league contest at Windsor Park Sunday.

Cafemen backed up starting hurler Ray Ramsay with a 19-hit attack, including home runs by Ron Oberg and Don Pimlott.

Worth Returns To Haunt Tyees

Hits Homer, Hurls Tribe To Victory

Spokane 6, Victoria 5

By BILL WALKER

Victoria Tyees ate dirt — local sandlot dirt—at Athletic Park Monday night as Spokane Indians increased their Western International League lead with a 6-5 victory.

Art Worth, a gangling left-hander who calls Victoria home, but apparently could never be seen by those who recognize talent here, hurled what was probably the most cherished victory of his professional baseball career.

Art wasn't around at the finish, it's true, but before being relieved in the ninth inning hamstrung the Tyees with some of the guttiest clutch pitching here this year. It was his seventh victory

The home-brew who started with the Indians a few years ago as a first baseman, part-time outfielder and a fill-in moundsman, gave up four runs in the first two innings and then blanked the locals until the ninth. In addition he left 15 runners stranded on the hassocks as the Tyees had runners aboard every inning but the seventh.

A walk to Lu Branham and successive doubles by Bob Moniz and Don Pries, good for two runs, had Worth on the ropes in the first, but he left the bases stacked while retiring the final three hitters in order.

With two out in the second he ran into trouble again, Moniz getting his second double and Pries following with a home run. He walked the next two men but escaped further grief when Jim Clark popped out.

The pattern followed through most of the contest, Worth giving up 11 hits and 10 bases on balls, but each time it seemed that he might falter, he rose to the occasion to stymie the Tyee attack.

Singles by Clark and pinch hitter Milt Martin and a walk to Bill Bottler saw the Tyees load the bases and Worth's departure in the ninth. But before he left he put the cap on the Spokane victory by scoring the eventual winning run with a ninth-inning home run over the centre field fence.

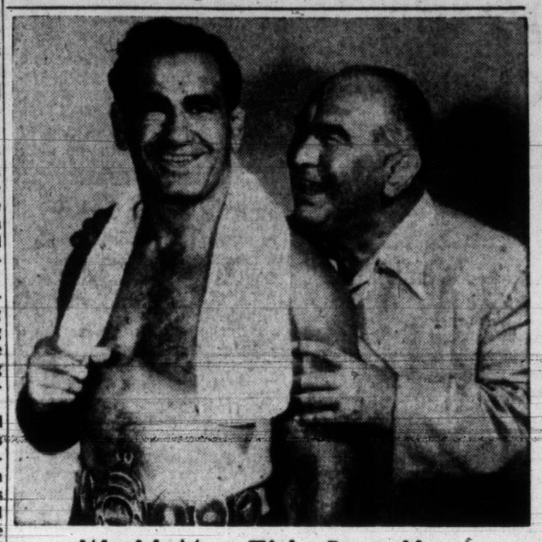
Reliefer George Nemes spiked the final Tyee threat, giving up one run on Lu Branham's long fly to centre field and then getting Moniz on a ground ball to end the game.

The Indians pounced on Bottler for two runs in each of the third and fourth innings, Worth singling home one tally, and took the lead at 5-4 in the sixth on Bill Sheets' home run.

Bottler was in almost as much trouble as Worth in the contest and even had the benefit of four doubles plays by the Tyees to aid him.

Pries was the big clubber for the Tyees with four hits including his double and home run.

Tonight will be ladies' night. Game time is 8.



World Mat Title Bout Here

Local wrestling fans have a rare treat in store for them Saturday night—a world championship bout. Dave Jons of England, winner of a recent elimination tournament here, will challenge world heavyweight champion Lou Thesz (here with fabled Ed "Strangler" Lewis, his manager), at Memorial Arena. The title bout will be part of a four-fight card.

PORTLAND (AP)—Tal Smith of Alameda, Calif., and Portland's Bruce Cudd both toured the Columbia-Edgewater Club course in five-under-par 67's to share the lead in the qualifying round of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament.

Cudd, Oregon amateur kingpin, toured the out nine in 33 and carded a 34 on the in nine. Smith, Northern California amateur champ for five years, carded 34 out and 33 in.

Spokane's Connie Oldershaw paced the women's qualifying round at the Riverside Club course with 38-36—74. Mrs. Francis Rowell of Portland, Oregon amateur titlist, carded a 75 for second place.

Dick Yost, playing out of Camp Roberts, Calif., and Gary Heal of Portland were tied for second among the men with 68s. Ray Koch of Portland and Eddie Draper of Seattle had 70s to tie for fifth.

Included among those tied for seventh with 71s was Bob Fleming, B.C. champion from Victoria.

Walt McElroy, former Canadian champion from Vancouver, had a 72.

Other scores included Bert Ticehurst, Vancouver, 73; Ernie D'Amico, Vancouver, 75; Vic Painter, Victoria, 79; George Andrew, Victoria, 80, and Andy Pollock, Vancouver, 80.

SOLARIUM NEEDS PUBLIC SUPPORT

The Derby---and Why

By ROY THORSEN

The financial picture of the operation of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, which cares for and cures the sick and crippled children of British Columbia, shows why campaigns are necessary to get dollars from the pockets of Mr. and Mrs. Public.

"Aside from government grants we need public support all the time," one official reported to the Times.

He said that the institution, perched on the shores of Malahat Beach, Mill Bay, finished the 1952 year in the "red" $41,382.

The official explained that it takes on an average of $200,000 to operate the kiddies' hospital-home-school for a 12-month period.

That is the reason why the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and this newspaper have joined hands to try and give the institution a financial helping hand each year through the promotion of the Solarium public salmon derby in Saanich inlet.

The big Solarium Day will be held in Saanich Inlet next Sunday.

Object of the derby is to get a huge purse for the crippled kiddies' organization. Derby promotions of this nature in the past have netted more than $10,000 for the Solarium and Wes Fulton, derby boss of this year's classic, hopes to beat all other records with a cheque "of at least $5,000."

Architects are presently working on the plans for the new building that will house the Solarium on the shores of Finnerty Bay, Gordon Head.

The Solarium organization has managed to keep some funds for this venture. It is hoped that provincial and federal government financial aid will be forthcoming for the structure. More aid, though, may be needed from the public to complete the project.

Tickets are still available for the Solarium Derby. They can be secured from committee members. Victoria sporting goods stores and Saanich Inlet boathouses.

ALL-STARS MEET TYEES IN BASEBALL BENEFIT

Officials of the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association will be beating the medicine drums for good week-end weather this Sunday.

For Sunday, the Senior Amateur League All-Star team will meet Victoria Tyees in an exhibition game at Athletic Park to raise funds for the promotion of amateur baseball. Last year close to 6,000 fans attended the game.

Two all-star teams from the City Bantam League will meet in a preliminary at 1 with the feature game scheduled for 2.30.

On Saturday, the game will be boosted by a parade through city streets featuring drill teams, bands and a baton team.

DODGERS CHARMED?

It Happened In Brooklyn

Some of the National League's best pitching magic must have rubbed off on cheerful Charlie Dressen at the All-Star game.

After associating with the likes of Robin Roberts, Warren Spahn and Co., Charlie has come home to Brooklyn and with a wave of the hand—the one he used to wag frantically at the bullpen—he's suddenly converted a staff of throwers into a reasonably dangerous assortment of pitchers.

Russ Meyer and Jim Hughes combined Monday night to pitch the second Dodger shutout in seven games, a five-hit 3-0 effort against Chicago Cubs that stretched the Brooklyn lead over the idle Milwaukee Braves to 3½ games.

The only other action Monday was in Pittsburgh, where the Pirates preserved their lead in a suspended Sunday game to beat St. Louis Cardinals 6-4 and then bowed in a regularly scheduled contest 9-4 as Steve Bilko broke a batting slump with two home runs and a pair of singles.

Meyer and Hughes were lucky to get out of the ninth inning without being scored upon since the first four Cub batters reached first base.

Eddie Miksis started it with a double. Dee Fondy walked. Ralph Kiner singled and Randy Jackson's sinking liner fell in front of rightfielder Don Thompson. By now there were two men out.

REASON WHY

Impossible? Not in Brooklyn. Miksis' double was legitimate. So was Fondy's walk. But Kiner's blow, a screaming knee-high drive toward centre field, struck Miksis on the leg. The base runner was out automatically, the ball was dead and the rules credit Kiner with a single.

With Fondy on second and Kiner on first, Dressen switched from Meyer to Hughes. Jackson looped one over the infield that fell in short right for an apparent hit, but Kiner held too long at first and was forced at second by Thompson's throw.

The victory was the sixth in seven games for Brooklyn since the all-star break.

NEW ORLEANS—Del Flanagan, 147, St. Paul, outpointed Al Pellegrini, 150, New Orealsn, 10.

Irvin-Schoendienst Tied for NL Bat Lead

NEW YORK (CP)—Even the most ardent New York Giant supporter didn't look for 34-year-old Minte Irvin to be in the thick of the National League batting race this year.

But with the 1953 campaign almost two-thirds gone, the veteran outfielder has compiled one of the best hitting records in the senior circuit.

Including Sunday's games, Irvin was tied with Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals for the batting lead, each with .331. He also had blasted 16 home runs and driven in 73 runs.

In the American League, George Kell of the Boston Red Sox set the pace with a .333 average, seven points higher than teammate Billy Goodman.

Irvin suffered a fractured ankle in the spring of 1952, and it was almost too much to expect him to regain his 1951 form.

He batted only .269 during the first month of this season, but has climbed steadily since then. Last week he collected six hits in 15 times at bat for a three-point gain.

Frankie Baumholtz of the Chicago Cubs was in third place in the National League at .326, followed by Carl Furillo of the Brooklyn Dodgers with .323. Tied for fifth were Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, Cincinnati's Red Kluszewski and Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers, each with .319.

Helping the Solarium

THIS IS GEORGE DOUGLAS, 1212 HILLSIDE. George is beteter known to the angling clan for his three-year sterling performance as secretary of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. But he is also one of the chief figures promoting the annual Anglers-Times Solarium benefit salmon derby to be held in Saanich Inlet July 26—next Sunday. A Victoria resident since the early years of the Second World War, Douglas was born in Peterborough, Ont. He is an RCAF veteran, serving in flying patrol work, seeking Japanese subs out from Alaska during the war. "I've got two fine, healthy youngsters, a boy and a girl. I love to work for a cause that will likely enable some sick or crippled kiddie from the Solarium to be returned to a normal life," George said. Solarium Derby day is nearly here . . . and tickets for the big-prize show are still available at Victoria sporting goods stores.

Mary Romaniuk Helps Viduals Increase Lead

Mary Romaniuk, currently one of the hottest pitchers in the Women's Softball League, tossed a neat five-hitter Monday night to lead Individuals to an 11-8 victory over Copley Bros. at lower Central Park.

The loss kept Copleys from closing the gap between themselves and second-place Sidney Merchants in the close battle for second place. Individuals increased their first-place lead to five and a half games over Sidney.

Miss Romaniuk picked up her fourth straight win in going the distance, while the loss was charged to Sheila Moseley, who gave up six hits.

Line-score follows:

		R.	H.	E.
Individuals	102 170 0—	11	6	5
Copley Bros.	002 321 0—	8	5	4

Mary Romaniuk and L. Luney; S. Moseley and S. Arden.

No Surprises In Net Meet

Favorites Advance in Opening Round of Canadian Championships

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian tennis championships were expected to warm up today after an opening-day round that wasn't tough enough for the name players to work up a sweat despite the 80-degree heat.

The lesser lights of the men's and women's singles competition went to the sidelines Monday as the big names in the week-long tournament appeared to be in a hurry to get their initial matches over with.

Included in the first-round victory list were Davis Cup netters from Canada, Mexico, Japan and Australia and all the seeded netters in both men's and women's divisions who saw action. The small crowd of about 200 at the Toronto Tennis Club courts had little to cheer about, but they were given an indication of better things to come when the big boys are drawn against each other.

Forty-four matches were played Monday and only one—between Bod Bedard, Sherbrooke, Que., and George Czuczka, Toronto—could be described as tough for a seeded player. The 21-year-old Bedard, rated No. 2 in the domestic section, was extended to three sets before he won 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

The others followed the trend of the opening match when Rex Hartwig of Australia, seeded No. 2 in the foreign section, defeated Syd Hermant of Toronto, 6-3, 6-1.

ROSE IN HURRY

Mervyn Rose, No. 1 seeded and betting favorite to win the singles title, almost blasted Jim Duff of Toronto off the courts with a 6-0, 6-2 triumph. The 23-year-old member of Australia's Davis Cup team got it over with in a hurry—less than 30 minutes.

Lorne Main of Vancouver and Toronto and No. 1 seed in the Canadian section, whipped Hugh Murray of Hamilton, 6-1, 6-1, in another fast-moving match.

Mrs. Hannah Sladek, formerly of Czechoslovakia, who now makes her home in Toronto, eliminated Irene Borecki of Toronto, 6-2, 6-1, in the first round of the women's singles. She is the No. 1 seed in the domestic section.

Minor Boxla

Saanich and Fernwood scored victories in diaper division minor lacrosse games at Stevenson Park Monday.

Dave Collett scored four goals and Murray Reid three to lead Saanich to an 8-4 victory over Fairoaks, while Denny Young sniped six goals as Fernwood whipped Esquimalt 11-2.

The following players are asked to be at Memorial Arena by 6.30, Wednesday night, for a preliminary game to the Shamrock-Nanaimo game:

Cougars—Bill Fisher, R. Young, D. Murray, Don Shaw, J. Loewen, K. Piercey, A. Spaven, Bob Fisher, D. Young, J. Crabb, Bill Glover, B. Spaven, J. Mossey, Doug Richardson, Dave Richardson.

Stubby's—B. Forbes, C. Ross, L. Mitchell, M. Reid, Bill Hoggarth, J. Lyster, Bill Parr, D. Collett, G. Martin, P. Collett, B. Winsby, R. Hodgkinson, P. Green, R. Heughan, W. Wirtanen, W. Humby.

Both Major Leagues Seeking Coast Sites

NEW YORK (AP).—A bitter behind-the-scenes battle is brewing between the National and American Leagues for Los Angeles and San Francisco as possible new sites for major league baseball clubs.

The rival circuits, convinced the major league map is due for an extensive revision in the near future, are casting covetous eyes at the two mainstays of the Pacific Coast League with their combined population of 6,000,000.

The American League, through Del Webb, co-owner of New York Yankees, already has sent out feelers to the coast with a suggestion that St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics be moved to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The National League has been discussing the possibility of moving Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Reds to those California cities.

The American League already knows of the National's intentions and is going to make a determined try to get there first. A committee made up of Webb, Tom Yawkey of Boston, Spike Briggs of Detroit and Chuck Comiskey of Chicago already has been appointed to explore the Pacific Coast situation. Each league feels that the addition of Los Angeles and San Francisco would make it the "superior" league.

HOGAN HOME

Ben's Wife Wishes He'd Play for Fun

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Hogan came home today with the third jewel in golf's triple crown—the British Open—and his wife, Valerie, said she hoped he would never try such an undertaking again.

"Ben lost about 20 pounds," Mrs. Hogan, a petite, quiet-speaking brunette, said. "He is thoroughly exhausted. I was worried about him.

"I would like to see him not try for any more big championships if he has to work as hard as he did for these. I would rather he start playing just for fun."

Hogan won the Masters and his fourth U.S. Open before making his first trip to Britain, a victorious one at Carnoustie, Scotland.

Hogan looked thin and wan as he docked at 8 a.m., EDT, from the liner United States to await a noon ticker-tape parade and a reception at city hall such as has not been accorded an American golfer since Bobby Jones won the grand slam in 1930.

In a ship-board interview the wiry Fort Worth, Texas, shotmaster talked like anything but a man who is ready to give up the game.

"I plan to continue playing golf," Hogan said, "and I am certain I will play again in the open. Whether I play in a British tournament again is a question. That is a long way off. I will decide when the time comes."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Allen Gettel, big Oakland right-hander, leads Pacific Coast League pitchers with a percentage of .760, a string of 19 wins against six defeats, and 203 innings pitched.

Has your engine lost its new car pep? Re-power with...

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

TCP*, a Shell-discovered additive now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, actually re-powers your engine by stopping short-circuiting of spark plugs and controlling pre-ignition. Gives up to 15% more power . . . increases spark plug life up to 150%.

Today's driving—often at low speeds in traffic and around town—increases the amount of combustion deposits, which actually short-circuit spark plugs and cause pre-ignition of the fuel-air mixture.

Because these deposits accumulate in all engines—both old and new—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is essential to keep your engine delivering full power—because the TCP additive actually stops the power-crippling effect of these deposits.

Today, Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only from your Shell Dealer.

Shark Killed; Not Rammer

LOUISBOURG, N.S. (CP)—Cape Breton fishermen have another "mystery" fish on their hands, but they're sure the Forchu Rammer, terror of the coast, is still at large.

The 600-pound shark 18-year-old Lester Fleet harpooned Sunday night in Louisbourg harbor wasn't the rammer. It didn't have any teeth.

The rammer, which has been chasing boats up and down 100 miles of coast for more than two weeks, has a good mouthful—except for the three it left in a boat it upset off Forchu, drowning a lobster fisherman.

Jan Struther Dies at 52

NEW YORK (AP) — Jan Struther, poet and author who was best known for her whimsical novel, "Mrs. Miniver," died Monday of cancer.

The 52-year-old British-born writer had been in hospital for two weeks. She had undergone an operation two years earlier.

In privatt life she was Mrs. A. K. Placzek, wife of the librarian of Avery Library at Columbia University.

Guards Taken From Schools

NELSON, B.C. (UP) — Police said Monday that night patrols had been removed from 16 of the 19 schools in this area as the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors appeared to have quieted down.

Vacationing teachers had been employed to guard the schools as police feared possible violence during the St. Peter's Day celebration July 1. However, officers said there had been no incendiarism in the Kootenays since the end of June.

Letter Received From Queen by Overseas League

A letter from the Queen at Buckingham Palace has been received by the Victoria, B.C. Branch of the Overseas League.

The letter, signed by the Queen's aid, Martin Charteris, conveyed the Queen's appreciation of a cable from the local group sent prior to the Coronation. Harold Nation, chairman of the group here, received the letter over the week-end.

The letter read: "I am commanded by the Queen to thank you for the kind message which you have sent on the occasion of Her Majesty's Coronation. Please convey to all those on whose behalf you wrote an expression of the Queen's sincere appreciation of their loyal sentiments. Yours sincerely, Martin Charteris."

J. P. Reecke, manager of the Trail (B.C.) branch office, will be the new manager of the Victoria branch.

Soviets Offer Food Aid—At a Price

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to send more than $57,000,000 worth of food to help hungry East Germany, but the East Germans will have to pay for the aid with manufactured goods.

The Communist East German government announced the extra Russian shipments early Monday. It admitted it had been forced to call on Moscow for help "several times" to ease the food shortages.

The announcement said the shipments, to be delivered during the rest of 1953, would consist of 27,000 tons of butter, 8,500 tons of fats, 10,000 tons of vegetable oil, 15,000 tons of seed oils, 20,000 tons of meat and 1,500 tons of cheese. The value placed on this was 231,000,000 rubles ($57,500,000).

The Russian food agreement was made public just one day after President Eisenhower renewed a 10-day-old offer to supply $15,000,000 worth of American food to East Berlin. Much of the food the president promised is already on the way to West Germany for distribution in the East if the Communist government agrees.

Hiding Place Of Suicide Knife Remains a Mystery

VANCOUVER (CP) — The hiding place for a two-and-a-half-inch knife with which condemned murderer Walter Pavlukoff committed suicide in Oakalla prison still remains a mystery.

Constable J. Fletcher, a special RCMP investigator, told a six-man coroner's jury Monday that, while investigation is continuing, police have determined that Pavlukoff could not have hidden the knife on his person.

Just minutes after being told that his appeal had been rejected, Pavlukoff stabbed himself with the razor-sharp blade.

The jury brought in a verdict of death by a self-inflicted wound.

500 School Teachers Record for District

School teaching force of Greater Victoria's public schools will hit a record high of 500 or more when school reopens Sept. 8, it is learned today.

Last year's force numbered 465, not including Victoria College. At least 35 more teachers are likely to be taken on for the 1953-54 term according to J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools.

Chain of Pickets Stops 200 Trucks in Toronto

TORONTO (BUP) — Pickets threw a human chain across the Queen Elizabeth Way Monday and stopped 200 freight trucks trying to run a strike which tied up transport in Western Ontario.

Five other main routes were patrolled in the blockade the union said meant "the difference between success and failure" in its one-day strike.

Union and company leaders were closeted all day with Labor Minister Charles Daley in Toronto, seeking a solution to their wage differences that would end the crippling walkout. All parties refused to comment on their progress to waiting newsmen when they emerged.

Crowd of 10,000 Expected Saturday at All-Sooke Day

Sooke River flats, quiet and deserted for most of the year, will turn into a teeming city of close to 10,000 pleasure seekers Saturday for the district's annual festival — All-Sooke Day.

Members of Sooke Community Association, sponsor of the event, began work on arrangements last year, and now have details in shape to provide 14 hours of entertainment.

Volunteer workers have cleared additional parking space around the flats to serve the thousands of cars expected to jam the area.

In the entertainment section, loggers' sports promise to be the most spectacular, as a full program of high-climbing, falling and bucking with hand tools and power saws has been arranged.

The burly loggers will have to share the limelight with the lovelies who will compete in the second running of the bathing beauty contest introduced last year.

For the smaller children there will be the annual baby show, when tots from the rural sections of lower Vancouver Island will compete for the Victoria Daily Times trophy.

One of the major attractions of All-Sooke Day since its inception has been the menu offered.

This year, as usual, Andre Robillard will tend the fires that will barbecue a ton of freshly-caught salmon — a skill developed through years of catering to the thousands who look forward to the salmon feast every year.

Jimmy Forrest will be in charge of the beef barbecue, in which huge joints will be roasted over live coals.

Youngsters will have a share in the celebration with a special program of races, a pie-eating contest and other events.

There will also be a midway and several contests for prizes, including the annual "gold rush" on the river bank for hidden treasure.

The program will start at 10 a.m., and will wind up 14 hours later, when the annual dance at Sooke Community Hall comes to a close.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

"Hunters on island given longer duck, deer seasons"—News Headline.

Duck, you Duck—dodge, you Deer
Soon the hunting season's here,
When men with guns of every sort
Will blast away, and call it sport.
Stags, stay away from Monan's rill,
Where hunters wait to make a kill;
And drakes, keep high upon the wing,
Or feel the bite of buckshot's sting.
Take care and see tomorrow's sun—
Thus you'll spoil the sportsman's fun.

The rhyme may be dismal, but the advice is sound. Personally, I am very glad the hunting season will be extended this year.

It will give hundreds of B.C. "hunters" more time to stay up too late playing poker; get up too early to scratch mosquito bites; get too much ill-cooked bacon and sad flapjacks, thus acquiring too much indigestion.

I am all in favor of the good companionship of the outdoor life, with its sprained ankles, stumps which sneak up and bite one in the night, and camp stoves which fill the cabin with tangy carbon monoxide.

If the hunters would only stick to playing poker, like good sensible men, and leave their lethal weapons at home, I would be in favor of a 365-day hunting season.

I guess I'm just not hep to sportsmanship, but I can't see anything sporting in shooting at something which can't shoot back.

We in Victoria get quite used to the Vancouver papers claiming our attractions for their own city.

But it is something of a rarity when a Victoria paper gives something away, gratis, to the mainland city.

Said the morning paper today:

"The ketch Dragoon, of Vancouver . . . ."

Just because Capt. Holms finished 19th, we don't need to disown him.

The reason that flying saucer with its men from Mars failed to turn up in California yesterday is very easy to explain.

One of the political parties active in the Federal election has arranged for the Mars Men to alter course for Canada, in time to join the movement before the election.

Every little vote counts.

And while we are on the subject, this actually happened—so help me.

The Times' night editor answered the phone at 10.45 p.m. yesterday, to hear this question:

"Can you tell me if the men from Mars have landed yet?"

To his ever-lasting credit, he simply said, politely: "No, ma'am,—not yet."

. . . she'll serve the church in West Coast waters.

West Coast Mission Ship Sails

A 12-year gap in the service of the United Church to the scattered communities of the West Coast of Vancouver Island will be closed this evening in Metropolitan United Church.

At 8 o'clock, Rev. Roy Rodgers, BA, captain missionary, will be formally inducted into his pastoral charge, the West Coast Marine Mission.

Capt. Rodgers, a native of Newfoundland, is master of the mission ship Mv. Melvin Swartout, which will be based at Bamfield, and will carry the work of the United Church to the tiny hamlets and bustling towns of the West Coast.

His ship is named for a captain missionary who died 50 years ago when his tiny sailing craft was returning from a Gospel mission to home port of Bamfield.

BODY WASHED ASHORE

Raging seas drove the craft unto the rocks, and Capt. Swartout's body was washed ashore. His grave is at Ucluelet.

Capt. Rodgers' immediate predecessor in the West Coast Marine Mission was Rev. Uriah Lait. In 1941, Rev. Lait joined the Canadian Army's chaplain service, later was taken prisoner at Hong Kong. During the war years, the church found it impossible to secure a man who was both a minister of the gospel and the owner of coastwise master's papers.

Two years ago the church brought Capt. Rodgers to B.C. from the east coast, and purchased the yacht Meander, once owned by George Kidd, former president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co.

Since that time, Capt. Rodgers has operated the renamed Melvin Swartout out of Alert Bay, and after the induction service this evening, will take up the West Coast work where it left off in 1941.

He will carry encouragement, counsel and faith from the Strait of Juan de Fuca north to Cape Scott. A new manse has been built in Bamfield, but Capt. Scott will spend the vast majority of his time sailing the tricky coastal waters.

With him in Mv. Melvin Swartout are his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Pardy. Pardy is engineer and crew of the sturdy former yacht, a wooden-hulled 60-footer powered by a 110-horsepower diesel.

The mission ship carries two small inboards, to reach shore at points where the larger craft cannot land.

The induction service this evening will be conducted by Rev. F. H. Golightly of Duncan, under the auspices of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church. Rev. T. G. Griffiths, home missions convener, will address the congregation.

Others taking part will be: Rev. S. V. H. Redman, Rev. W. W. McPherson, Rev. William Allan and Rev. W. P. Bunt, superintendent of missions for the United Church in British Columbia.

Court Ruling Made In E & N Land Case

Sale Agreement Must Stipulate Company's Continuing Rights

An agreement to sell land in the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway belt on Vancouver Island must stipulate the "reservations" of the E & N Railway, Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane ruled in a Supreme Court judgment handed down today.

The Justice held that if the sale agreement did not state that the railway company had rights to certain minerals on the land, including rights to repossess portions of the land, the prospective buyer had cause to apply to the courts to have the contract broken.

In the past many real estate agents have forgotten to stipulate in land sale agreements that there were "E. and N. reservations."

The ruling was among reasons why Mr. Justice Macfarlane dismissed the action of Thomas Dayfuse, 1115 Langley, against Thomas E. Mugleston, of Edmonton.

The action was for specific performance of an agreement dated Sept., 1952, made between the plaintiff and defendant whereby Mugleston agreed to buy the Strathcona Lodge School, formerly an old CPR hotel, at Shawnigan Lake, for the sum of $31,500.

Mugleston, through his lawyer, John McIntosh, pleaded that he thought he was buying a $500 option to buy the property. He alleged that he found later that he could not purchase the land.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane accepted the pleadings of Mugleston and ordered the plaintiff to return the $500 deposit.

City Socreds' New President Archie Browne

Archie M. Browne was elected president of the Victoria Social Credit Constituency Association Monday night.

He takes over from W. N. Chant, who resigned following his election to the B.C. Legislature.

J. D. Johnson was elected first vice-president, succeeding Percy Wright, who, like Mr. Chant, resigned to devote his time to legislative duties.

A. L. Meriam was named second vice-president and Les Asseltine third vice-president.

R. B. Shaw presented a resolution suggesting that the association recommend to the government that Mr. Chant be made a cabinet minister. The resolution was referred to the executive without being voted upon.

Three New Polio Cases Reported

British Columbia's 1953 polio total now stands at 115 cases, five of which have been fatal.

Three new cases were reported Monday.

Health officers are focussing their attention on Kelowna to find a way of combatting the disease. Kelowna has not had a polio case for two years.

Dr. D. M. Black, health officer there, attributes this to the intensive spraying program conducted in that city.

Kelowna has been spraying mosquitos and flies in a rigid campaign for five years. In addition to general spraying, garbage cans are regularly douched.

"It has been definitely established that flies carry polio," Dr. Black said.

Victorious Socred Candidates Sworn

The five Socreds elected to represent Greater Victoria in the next B.C. Legislature were formally sworn in as MLAs today.

The ceremony was held at 11 a.m. in the office of Legislative Clerk E. K. DeBeck. Those taking the oath were Mrs. Lydia Arsens, W. N. Chant and Percy Wright, Victoria; Herbert Bruch, Esquimalt, and John Tisdalle, Saanich.

Family Reunited Through Gifts of Generous Donors

Nearly $350 was donated by Victorians to assist a young mother and her family after their difficult circumstances were described by The Times.

The Family and Children's Service of the Community Chest said today that $300 had been sent to their offices on behalf of the family. Another $45 was turned into The Times' office.

The contributions followed disclosure that the 25-year-old army wife was in hospital for the birth of her fifth child. She had no money, no home, and her four other children were in foster homes. She was separated from her husband.

Welfare officials said today the little family is now sharing a pleasant home, the children are happily reunited and there is new hope for the future.

Socreds Name Nanaimo Candidate for Aug. 10

Frank Hodgson, president of B.C. Social Credit League, on Monday night was nominated as Socred candidate for Nanaimo-The Islands in the Aug. 10 federal election.

He won the party's nomination at a Crofton meeting attended by 100 delegates from all sections of the scattered riding.

Americans Set New Record for Travel to B.C.

Despite unseasonable weather during the early part of the summer, B.C.'s automobile tourist traffic from the U.S. set another new record during the first half of this year.

Trade Minister Ralph Cretwynd revealed today that 103,752 U.S. cars entered the province up until June 30, compared with 96,588 in the first half of 1952. This is a 7.4 per cent increase.

In June, when dull, cool weather put the damper on many holiday plans, B.C. emerged on top of the situation by registering a 1.1 per cent increase over the mark set by tourists in June of last year.

Americans who came to B.C. on long-stay travelers' vehicle permits brought in 31,423 cars in June, 355 more than the 31,068 cars arriving in the corresponding month of last year.

"Weather is a vital factor," Mr. Chetwynd observed. "We have done well to show an increase in the face of discouraging temperatures."

DRAGOON ENDS OCEAN RACE

Capt. W. B. Holms' Victoria ketch Dragoon, only Canadian entry in the Honolulu ocean yacht race, crossed the finish line at Diamond Head Monday, 19th yacht in a field of 32 to finish.

Exact place in the revised handicap standings will not be known until all yachts have finished and the race committee meets.

Dragoon will leave Hawaii about August 1, for the long sail home. She will sail due north from Honolulu until on a parallel about even with the north tip of Vancouver Island, then turn eastward.

Two Injured In Helmcken Bridge Crash

Old-Model Car Said Total Wreck

Two persons were injured and a 1938 model car was wrecked in an 11.30 p.m. crash Monday on Helmcken Road near Helmcken School.

James S. Gibson, 1562 Clawthorpe, suffered leg injuries when the car he was driving crashed into a cement support of a bridge next to a railway over-pass. He is reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

His passenger, AB William Gibson, HMCS Naden, of Dodsland, Sask., suffered a fractured jaw and lacerations. He is at Naden Hospital and reported in good condition. Police said the driver and passenger are not related.

RCMP highway patrol consider the car to be a total wreck.

New Teacher Policy Here Favors Men

More men and fewer women teachers will be seen in Greater Victoria elementary schools from now on.

Senior Inspector J. F. K. English told the school board Monday night that a policy to effect this was being instituted and would be followed in future appointments.

The names of seven men appeared in a list of 19 elementary teachers whose appointment on probation for one year starting this fall was approved by the board on the recommendation of the education committee. The appointees:

C. Norton Welch, J. S. G. Woods, D. H. Laing, F. J. Bevis, D. J. Cavin, C. L. Stokell, J. H. Merrett, Miss M. I. Gerard, Miss M. B. DeBow, Miss Patricia Thompson, Mrs. H. A. Ruckle, Miss Denise F. McCourt, Miss W. A. Glover, Miss E. V. Mercer, Miss N. V. Hoffman, Miss P. Cockburn, Miss W. M. Brown, Miss M. Splett and Miss R. Hanington.

Appointed to secondary schools on probation for one year were Miss A. C. Moyle, Miss R. Pringle, R. E. Jones and H. P. Runer.

Elementary school appointments on a month-to-month basis were Miss M. G. Bulman, Mrs. M. G. Butler, Mrs. N. F. Kerr, Mrs. L. M. Emerson and Mrs. M. J. Parker.

Pearkes Proposes West Coast Road

Federal financial aid to provide a West Coast road was advocated by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Progressive Conservative candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich, in a speech Monday at Sooke.

Gen. Pearkes said a road connecting Port Renfrew with Jordan River and Victoria was essential for defense purposes.

He also advocated changing Canada's fishing regulations so that a line would be drawn from the western-most tip of Vancouver Island and the western-most tip of the Queen Charlottes.

Welcome Home, Bernice!

Bernice Perfect, 17-year-old graduate of Mt. Douglas High School, was one of two Greater Victoria students chosen to represent this area at the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth. She returned home Monday from a six-weeks' tour overseas, bubbling with enthusiasm over "an experience of a lifetime." A three-year-old neighbor, David Earthy, was on hand to welcome Bernice home, and hear about her trip. She tells it in an interview below. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

Bernice 'Grows Up' on Six-Weeks Coronation Tour of Europe

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

A pretty 17-year-old Mount Douglas High School student feels she returned to Victoria 10 years older after a six-week trip to Britain which included the Coronation.

"I never thought I could see so many things or learn so much," said Bernice Perfect when interviewed at her home, 3865 Cadboro Bay Road, today. "I feel I've aged 10 years."

One of two Greater Victoria school students selected to go to the Coronation with the Canadian schools' contingent, Bernice listed the Coronation, the Eiffel Tower in Paris, and crossing the Atlantic, the top thrills of the trip—in that order.

"I've got so many new friends, it was just awful to leave them," she said wistfully of the group she travelled with. "We hope to have a reunion in Vancouver next year."

With other students, Bernice was seated in the pelting rain on the Mall from 5 in the morning to 6 at night Coronation Day. She said the seats were "wonderful" and the group saw everything.

"The Queen looked beautiful even in the rain . . . there were thousands of troops . . . when the RCMP went by we were screaming and waving . . . they were a great hit.

"We had a box lunch to do us for breakfast, lunch and supper . . . some brought two but I didn't think to," Bernice laughed.

Wherever they went the group wore distinctive maroon blazers—an asset in crowded London, she said.

Bernice said a four-day trip to Paris was a memorable one. They saw the city from the Eiffel Tower and the Seine River by moonlight . . . went to the Bal Tabarin night club.

"It's a beautiful city—Paris is all out for the tourist."

Bernice found the English and Scottish people very friendly—"more so than Canadians and they can talk so easily."

"If we seemed lost they would ask 'Are you lost, Canada?' or 'Can I help you, Canada?'" she said. "There was nothing like that in Paris. You feel like a real foreigner there, and you are."

The girls attended one dance on their trip—at King Alfred's College, Winchester. At Winchester, too, they saw "all the Cathedrals."

There were several dances aboard ship and a masquerade party on the return crossing. Bernice said the English food was "different from ours but they fed us very well—we didn't go without."

She heard the Coronation opera "Gloriana" in London but preferred the performance of "La Traviata" which she saw in Bristol.

"In London our itinerary was so packed we didn't get a chance to sleep much," laughed Bernice.

A visit to Edinburgh Castle, the heather on the Scottish hills, Loch Lomond, the English Lake District were all recalled.

"I know I could never live in a big city, though," said Bernice. "If I chose anywhere to live over there it would be in the Lake District. It is really beautiful."

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Perfect met their daughter on her arrival in Vancouver. A few days to sort out her memories and then Bernice will be in her new position as stenographer with a city firm. She graduated from Mount Douglas High this year.

Edward Walters, Esquimalt High student, extended his holiday to visit relatives in Eastern United States and Canada.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Where is Mount Vancouver F.L.B.

A.—In the southwest corner of the Yukon Territory. Its altitude is 15,700 feet.

Q.—Is the San Pedro-Honolulu yacht race, in which the Victoria ketch Dragoon participated, the world's longest extant sailing race, and is it held annually? E.M.P.

A.—Yes. The distance as the crow flies is 2,225 miles, though under changing conditions of wind it always may be expected the yachts will sail more than that. For the other notable long distance race, from New York to Bermuda, a direct course would be 677 miles. Under International Yacht Racing Association arrangements the two great contests in seamanship are held in alternate years. Thus the next San Pedro-Honolulu race will be held during the summer of 1955. In the present cruise the Victoria entry is returning to this coast by the Great Circle route.

Chlorophyll Dog Cleaner—Means Less Baths for Rover

By PENNY SAVER

Dog lovers! If Rover objects to his regular plunge in the tub, get him a chlorophyll dog-cleaning cloth! He won't need nearly as many baths then, for the cloth will clean him without washing. All you have to do is rub the cloth over your dog's coat . . . cloth may be used either dry or slightly moistened. For best results, hold cloth over hot steam or sprinkle slightly with lukewarm water. It kills unpleasant odors, relieves itching, and regular use will prevent fleas and ticks. This wonder cloth can be laundered in lukewarm water. Use it on the cat, too! It's absolutely harmless and highly sanitary . . . 97 cents.

* * *

Keep your pets off the furniture and garden by using a harmless repellant. You'll marvel at its magic . . . the cat will no longer claw at your new chesterfield suite. It's odorless to humans, but animals can't stand it. Buy it in 85-cent or $2 amounts.

* * *

Glamorize your home with new-type aquariums! A half-bowl wall bracket has an attractive etched design on back. Fish may swim up and over the bowl in a tubular loop. This aquarium, which holds approximately one-half gallon of water and two or three fish, costs $4.95.

Another decorative fish bowl is completely round and has the same tubular loop over top, which also serves as a handle. Place on coffee tables, consoles, and other large pieces of furniture. It holds one gallon of water and accommodates about four fish. It costs $5.50. A similar bowl, which holds one-half gallon, is $4.50.

The bowls are easily cleaned. To remove film in glass handles, a bottle brush will do the trick. A little ammonia added to warm water will make film disappear in seconds!

Treat the dog to some candy when he has been good or just learned to perform a clever trick. It's bribery, I know, but it works wonders. A special dog candy is now being made which contains no starch or sugar to ruin his coat or make him fat. Sweetened with glucose, it comes in bite-size cubes. Buy a 25-cent or 45-cent package today!

There's a new quick no-soak way to cook California large dry lima beans. Bring 1 quart water to rolling boil. Slowly stir in 1 cup rinsed dry limas. Do not let boiling stop. Reduce heat and boil gently about 1½ to 2 hours. Season with 1 teaspoon salt during last half hour of cooking.

To Marry on Treasure Island

The engagement is announced of Margaret (Mardy) Witham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Witham, Duncan, V.I., to Charles R. (Rudy) Davis, Fire Controls Technician, U.S. Navy, PO 2nd Class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, Duncan. The ceremony will take place in the Navy Chapel, Treasure Island, San Francisco, on Aug. 22, at 1 p.m., with Father Rademacher officiating. Miss Barbara Pearson, of Portland, will be bridesmaid.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Entertaining, even during summer's "dog days," is easy when you serve your guests the "fixin's" and let them make their own salad. Your best serving tray, fairly groaning with carefully arranged salad ingredients, makes an inviting buffet that will prove the life of the party. Cover the tray with a bed of finely chopped lettuce. Arrange two (3¾ ozs.) opened cans of sardines and a bowl of mayonnaise in the centre. Surround with whole cooked beets, cucumber circles, quartered hard-boiled eggs, quartered tomatoes and parsley sprigs.

The type of shoes a child wears is important not only to his health, but also to his disposition. Psychiatrists have traced poor school grades, in many instances, to ill-fitting shoes which have caused a child discomfort.

Leather industries says Canadians are getting twice as much mileage out of shoes as they did 50 years ago because of technological advances.

For that "something warm" to serve with summer fruit plates fix nut-topped English muffins. Spread butter on toasted muffin halves. Drizzle honey over muffins and sprinkle with chopped walnuts or almonds. Run under broiler to heat through and serve warm. Delicious!

TODAY'S RECIPE

ASPARAGUS EGG CASSEROLE

One lb. bunch asparagus, 6 hard-cooked eggs, ¾ cup minced canned pork, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon grated onion, ¾ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper.

Four tablespoons fat, 6 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese, ½ cup buttered bread crumbs.

Cook asparagus in boiling salted water until just tender. Drain. Cut hard-cooked eggs in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash egg-yolks and blend with the meat, Worcestershire sauce, onion, mustard, milk, salt and pepper. Fill centres of the egg-white halves with egg-yolk mixture. Melt fat, blend in flour, salt and pepper and slowly stir in milk. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Add grated cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Place asparagus in a layer on the bottom of a casserole. Arrange stuffed eggs in a layer on top. Pour cheese sauce over and top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., until thoroughly heated and crumbs are browned—about 25 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Popular Shortie Coat

A variation of the converted beach wrap this year is the shortie coat which reaches to just below the thighs and is made in denim or just ordinary mattress ticking.

Both of these materials are widely used for informal cotton dresses and one of the smartest duster coats seen at Ascot race meet was made of blue striped mattress ticking, showerproofed and fastened with large red buttons.

For the chilly evening by the sea or aboard ship, a practical and at the same time smart sweater has a ribbed sleeve from the wrist to within about two inches of the elbow, giving the effect of the fashionable just-below-the-elbow sleeve while providing the required warmth.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Can Improve Upon Voice Nature Gave You

It is very difficult to hear ourselves as others hear us. We seldom listen to ourselves objectively. Yet if we stop to think, we realize that the timbre and expression of a voice over the telephone give us a definite impression of the one with whom we are talking.

Some voices are actually irritating in their harshness or loudness while others soothe us as music would. Some are dead pan while others lilt with vivacity and expression. Some lucky women are born with beautiful speaking voices but most of us can stand some improvement.

Speech is the way in which we most often express ourselves. The tone and warmth and intonation of a voice add color to what we say. I am sure you have noticed that in many people the voice indicated the age of its owner. When enthusiasm and eager interest are rampant in youth these come flying through.

We should watch the negative attitude which so many middle-aged folks adopt. So long as a warm feeling for people and enthusiasm for life remain, the voice will reflect it. However, there are purely physical factors which we should think about.

The beautiful voice depends somewhat on correct breathing. Shallow chest breathing is likely to give you a thin voice. Deep breathing exercises are just as important to the woman who wishes to improve her voice or to keep it lovely, as they are to a singer.

The lips and jaw and tongue should be relaxed but they should not be lazy. No matter how many charming or witty or brilliant or kind things you may have to say, if you mutter or mumble, others cannot long stand the strain of listening, of trying to discover what you are saying.

Indistinct speech usually has its origin in shyness, in lack of self-confidence, in fatigue, in discouragement, but often long after these have disappeared the habit may linger on. Watch for this.

Even though it may make you feel silly, go into a room alone, and speak as naturally as you can, and listen to your voice objectively, as if it did not belong to you but to someone else. Perhaps it is too high or too loud or it may have no expression. Maybe it is an irritable or tense voice, a habit which you formed during years of strain and worry.

Whatever you find wrong with it, you can improve upon, just by being conscious of your deficiency.

Breathing exercises help. If you would like to have mine send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 26, "The Fountain of Youth," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Fourteen or 15 years was considered a marriageable age for girls in French Canada two centuries ago.

AS WE LIVE

Suitor Refuses to Insure Future of His New Family

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Financial security may not preoccupy a man because he feels that he can always get a job and support himself. But what about a mother with young children? A woman writes:

(Q) "I am a widow with two young children. When my husband died four years ago, he left enough life insurance for me to live on and I have not had to go to work. Recently I met a young man and we have fallen in love. He wants to marry me but I have not given him my answer because he doesn't believe in insurance and carries none on his life, his car or anything he owns. He has never been married and does not seem to realize how important insurance is to a woman. He wants to have a big family and says he can't afford to carry insurance. He also claims that women in earlier days had big families and managed to get along if their husbands died even if they had no insurance. Am I being foolish in the stand I have taken?"

Hurlock

(A) You are absolutely right in wanting some protection should you be left a widow again. The man who wants to marry you must realize that there is no comparison between women of the past and those today. Life is too much changed; his arguments don't hold water.

If you really love him and want to marry him, why not invest what you have from your late husband's insurance in policies covering your home, your new husband's life, and the car? Use the income or even the principle of the sum you now have to pay premiums. If this is not enough save some from the household money your new husband will give you.

If you feel he would object to this, don't tell him what you are doing. The money your first husband left you is yours to do with as you see fit. If it seems best to you to use the money to ensure your children's happiness in a home with a stepfather and stepsisters and brothers, that's the best investment you could make.

Dr. Hurlock will held you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Return From Week's Cruise

Following a week's cruise aboard their yacht, Tejos, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stanley Moore have returned to their Beach Drive home. They were accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Crombie, who later returned to Seattle by plane. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Moore, also returned to Victoria on the yacht and will make their future home in this city.

Miss Anstey Is Honored

Miss Marjorie Anstey, whose marriage to Mr. Marvin Fowler, Calgary, will take place shortly, was honor guest when Mrs. A. H. Marrion entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her Maplewood Road home. Mrs. Thomas Waters and Mrs. Herbert Marrion assisted the hostess. Other guests were Mrs. George Anstey, Mrs. D. Holmes, Mrs. J. Howroyd, Mrs. R. Knight, Mrs. J. R. Cleator, Mrs. G. S. Forbes, Mrs. R. O. Marrion, Mrs. R. Mitchell, Mrs. D. Anstey, Mrs. R. Anstey and Mrs. W. H. Norrie.

A Visitor From Toronto

Miss Mary Darling has come from Toronto to visit her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Darling, St. Patrick Street. En route to the Pacific coast, Miss Darling spent some time at Jasper, Banff and Lake Louise.

Here From Montreal

Mrs. V. Patterson and Mrs. W. H. Borrie of Montreal, are in Victoria to visit their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. Douglas, 454 Admirals Road.

To Visit in East

Miss Teddy Murray, 3601 Cedar Hill Road, left by plane recently to spend two weeks visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Payson, of Quebec City.

Langford Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Horton, Millstream Road, have returned to their home after a holiday in Portland, Ore.

Former residents at Langford Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hicks, have left their Victoria home to visit in Toronto for two months, where they will be guests of Mrs. Hicks' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gilbert Jr. The sisters will be meeting for the first time in 35 years. A brother, Mr. Gus Swingler, will also be present, having recently arrived from England to make his home in Toronto.

On the occasion of her 70th birthday, Mrs. W. T. Sims, Millstream Road, Langford, was honored recently by her fellow members of St. Matthew's Guild, when Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen presented her with a Coronation spoon and corsage.

Miss Mia Gableman was guest of honor at a shower held recently at the home of Miss Irene Zarft, Langford. Gifts were presented in a decorated umbrella and accompanied by a corsage of carnations and roses. Her mother, Mrs. H. Gableman, also received a similar corsage. Refreshments were served by Mrs. I. Zarft, Mrs. S. Green and Mrs. J. Zarft. Others present were Mesdames G. Flett, A. Rantz, H. Schultz and Misses Frances Jeffery and Eimay Flett.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Kemp, Vancouver, are visiting at Langford, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williamson, Park Lane.

Summer Pastels Are Theme For Wedding at Tabernacle

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen. (Photo By Paul Joncas.)

Tall standards of pastel gladioli and carnations placed in Alliance Tabernacle made an attractive summer setting for a bride and her pastel-gowned attendants recently, when Muriel Irene, daughter of Mrs. Annie Ellis, 1325 Stanley Avenue, and the late Mr. Ellis, exchanged marriage vows with John Erik Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Jensen, 2947 Westdowne Road. Rev. D. A. Gunn performed the ceremony and George Ross sang "Wedding Prayer" with Miss Joyce Martens at the organ.

The bride wore a gown of white lace over net, styled with a train and lily point sleeves. Her veil was fingertip length and she wore the groom's gift of a rhinestone necklace. Red roses and white carnations formed her bouquet. She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, N. Jeffrey.

Mrs. K. Pomeroy was her sister's matron of honor. She wore pale orchid net over taffeta with a matching bolero. Miss Jean Carswell, bridesmaid, was similarly gowned in yellow. Each carried contrasting bouquets of orchid and yellow carnations and wore headdresses of matching pastel sweet peas.

Flower girl was little Bonnie Tomlinson, cousin of the bride, in pale green taffeta with pink and white carnations in her colonial bouquet. Paul Jensen was his brother's best man and Don Jensen and Ken Barker ushered guests to pews marked with white flowers and streamers.

Business and Professional Women's Clubroom was scene of the reception and had been decorated with pale yellow and pink streamers and white bells. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake flanked with white candles. Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Jensen assisted in receiving guests. A toast was proposed by C. Broughton.

For an up-Island honeymoon, Mrs. Jensen donned a light blue suit with which she selected red accessories, a white top coat and a corsage of red and white roses. The couple will make their home in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Jeffrey attended the wedding from Briercrest, Sask.

Well-Known Young Couple to Marry

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Webster, 1981 Forrester Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Gayle, to Douglas MacLean Anderson, son of Mrs. Caroline Anderson, and the late Mr. James Anderson of Edmonton, Alta. The wedding will take place on Aug. 14 at 8.30 p.m. in Metropolitan United Church. Miss Webster has chosen Miss Marilyn Balcom as her only attendant, and her cousin, Miss Judith Humber, as flower girl. (Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Celebrates 81st Birthday To Be Honored at Matsqui

Last Saturday at the home of daughter, Mrs. M. O. Pederson, 1065 Beverley Place, a party was held to honor Mrs. James Igeland on her 81st birthday. A birthday cake, decorated by Mrs. W. D. Davies, in chartreuse with yellow flowers and crown and "81" was cut by Mrs. Igeland. Mrs. Lysne presided at the coffee urns and Mrs. N. Lazaruk and Mrs. H. Kjer assisted as serviteurs.

Among guests were members of Grace Lutheran Church Auxiliary as well as other friends.

On Friday Mrs. Igeland will leave for Vancouver, en route for Matsqui in the Fraser Valley where she will be honored as a founder of the Lutheran Ladies' Auxiliary in that district, at celebration of the auxiliary's 50th anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Igeland came from Tronheim, Norway, to Montana and from there to Canada in 1902 with their three eldest children. They settled in New Westminster in the days before there was a railway bridge and were ferried across the Fraser River to the little town.

MRS. IGELAND

In a short time they moved again, 50 miles east to the new settlement of Matsqui Prairie, where they were pioneers.

In 1903, four of the pioneer women at Matsqui started a Lutheran Ladies' Aid and soon after a church was organized. Only two of the four are alive today, Mrs. Igeland and Mrs. A. Gustafson.

In 1952, the Lutheran Women's Missionary Federation honored Mrs. Igeland by making her a life member.

Mr. Igeland died in 1944 and Mrs. Igeland came to Victoria in 1946 to live with her daughter. She has four children, two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McGregor, 1111 Glenora Avenue, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at a party at their home, Saturday evening. An anniversary cake centred the lace-covered refreshment table.

A miscellaneous shower was given recently to honor Mrs. John Campbell, the former Gwen Hall, RN, by Mrs. A. Baird and Mrs. T. B. Robinson at the home of the latter, 976 Wollaston Street. The honor guest received a corsage of yellow roses and her mother and mother of the groom received pink carnations, en corsage. Shasta daisies, sweet peas and carnations decorated the rooms and gifts were contained in a decorated wishing well, and presented by Sandra Müsgrave. Guests were Mrs. R. G. Coward, Mrs. D. Campbell, Mrs. W. Putman, Mrs. F. Freeman, Mrs. W. Hindle, Mrs. C. Robertson, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. J. Wright, Mrs. G. Harrison, Mrs. E. Hadland, Mrs. R. Reeve, Mrs. G. Jones and Mrs. W. Blevins.

Centuries ago, leather was rated with gold, silver and jewels as fitting to give kings and gods. From the dawn of history, wandering tribes of the Eastern deserts used leather for their home furnishings from carpets to tents. However, it was the Egyptians who gave leather its cherished position as an adornment for furniture. Recent excavations of Egyptian tombs brought forth leather articles estimated to be more than 33 centuries old, and they were perfectly preserved.

MRS. R. W. MAYHEW SPEAKS

Churches Unite in Japan to Further Work in Three Very Important Fields

Missionary work in Japan is organized under an inter-board committee through which eight large North American churches co-operate under the United Church of Christ in Japan.

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, wife of Canada's Ambassador to Japan in addressing the senior group of the Women's Missionary Society, First United Church, Monday afternoon, explained that the United Church in Canada is one of the eight churches on this inter-board committee.

Educational work, social service work and the church and evangelism are three main fields in which the Canadian board co-operates.

FOR WOMEN, CHILDREN

"In the educational field there are four important and expanding outlets," Mrs. Mayhew said, "a university for 7,000 students in Osaka, a new international university in Tokyo, concerned with producing leaders and staff for other Christian and non-Christian educational institutions, four theological seminaries which will produce an educated ministry and the Canadian Academy in Kobe for missionaries' children.

In social service work, day nurseries, orphanage, day dispensary, club and night school work, creches, home for war widows from China and nursery schools are all assisted.

"Our Canadian board pioneered social service work in Japan," Mrs. Mayhew reminded her audience, "and now co-operates in some of the best Christian social service institutions."

Touching on the church and evangelism, the speaker said Japan now has its own home missions "but the real pioneer evangelism in untouched areas will have to be done for many years with support from Canada and United States."

She told of families now in this work in Japan and of the need for many more families.

She spoke of a national rural Christian service and training centre started in 1948 that has graduated its third group of young men and women to pioneer in rural areas as lay leaders and assistant ministers; of a tremendous plan to emigrate 5,000,000 persons to settle in agriculture and industry on the northern island of Hokkaido and of a church extension program to meet this need.

"Our Canadians fit into the colder climate and pioneer spirit better than many other groups," she said.

In concluding Mrs. Mayhew spoke briefly of missionary work in Japan, started almost 70 years ago by the Methodist Church in Canada and the Toyo Eiwa School which has a good kindergarten, a school for training kindergarten teachers, a residence for missionaries, large public school and high school which gives two years junior college training for Christian kindergarten leaders.

"The great need in Japan is for kindergartens, and it is the aim of almost every church out there to open one of its own," Mrs. Mayhew said.

Mrs. E. J. Capling presided and welcomed many visitors from other churches in the city. Mrs. A. J. Cromie thanked the speaker for her address. Soloist was Mrs. A. Sheard, accompanied by Mrs. John Gough, and one song presented was that used in the Tokyo Women's Christian College on graduation day.

Following the meeting, afternoon tea was served from a table artistically arranged with silver candelabra, tall green candles and bouquets of summer flowers.

Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Freda McIntyre, Mrs. Capling, Mrs. Cromie and Mrs. J. G. McFarlane.

St. Matthias Garden Party Realizes $740

St. Matthias' garden party, held Saturday realized $740 for the new church building fund. The fete was opened by Dean P. R. Beattie of Christ Church Cathedral at 2.30. Flowers were presented to Mrs. W. Tomalin and Mrs. C. G. Heisterman by Gayle Oswald and Delaina Sadler.

A delightful buffet tea was served by the ladies of the Evening Guild on the spacious lawn, and stalls of needlecraft, home cooking, flowers and vegetables, and superfluities did a fine business with their attractively displayed merchandise. They were convened by the WA Altar Guild and choir. A special section for the children was well attended and very busy all afternoon selling merchandise especially chosen and priced for the younger set. A brightly colored wishing well, pop, ice cream and games completed the children's section.

General convener was Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin, assisted by A. J. Collison. P. W. Stobie was treasurer.

Miss Ilace Roskelley was guest of honor at a kitchen shower, Monday evening, given by Mrs. H. Evans and Mrs. E. L. Johns, at the home of the latter on Gladstone Avenue. Gifts were presented in a rose-petalled container by Diane Virginia Roskelley, who is to be bridesmaid at the wedding. The bride-elect received a corsage of roses, and gladioli corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. W. Roskelley, and grandmother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. Sullivan, Sr. An arrangement of roses and madonna lilies decorated the fireplace. Guests were Mrs. W. R. Roskelley, Mrs. S. Roskelley, Mrs. J. Sullivan, Sr., Mrs. J. Sullivan, Jr., Mrs. S. Kinsey, Mrs. M. C. Sands, Mrs. R. Heater, Mrs. F. Wille, Mrs. W. Johnson, Mrs. C. Miles, Mrs. A. Veitch and Mrs. W. E. Roskelley.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

South's redouble in today's hand should have meant, "Partner, I have a fairly good hand. I expect to make one no-trump, and I hope to be able to double the opponents for penalties if they run to some new suit."

Actually, of course, South had no such hand. He was afraid of the no-trump contract and hoped to bully his opponents into finding an escape suit.

As it happened, however, both East and West had strong nerves and reasonably good values for their bidding. Hence they stood by their guns and prepared to defend against the redoubled contract.

West opened the six of diamonds, and South won with the ten. Declarer hoped to make dummy's five spade tricks and two diamonds in his own hand, so promptly returned the queen of diamonds from his own hand.

West just as promptly put up the ace of diamonds and shifted to the seven of clubs through dummy's king. South could have made his contract by putting up dummy's king of clubs and immediately running the spades. Instead, however, he timidly played a low club from dummy. East won with the queen of clubs and saw without the slightest difficulty that the setting trick had to come from the hearts.

He therefore returned a low heart, whereupon the defenders rattled off four heart tricks and a second club trick in addition to the ace of diamonds.

The score of 200 points for a one-trick set was a clear top for East and West when his hand was played in a match point tournament. It was probably poetic justice that South got only a bottom score for his "psychic" redouble, but if he had been as courageous in the play of the cards as he had been enterprising in the bidding he would have made his contract and scored a top instead of a bottom.

It should have been easy for South to put up dummy's king of clubs on the first round of that suit. A good player will lead through K-10-x-x when he has nothing in the suit or when he has the ace, but he will usually leave the suit alone if he has the queen. If West had no high club, it could cost South nothing to put up dummy's king; and if West had the ace, dummy's king would win a vital and immediate trick.

CARROLL RICHARDS'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Sudden inspirations bring wonderful new ways to enlarge present fields of expression. Meet with all who can help you in any way at all. Jot down ideas so you will remember the worthwhile ones.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Gains in money can be yours if you seize opportunities about you to increase present income. Look for ways to add to real estate, also. Consult with bankers, tax experts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is your day to come to definite agreement with all who are important to you in any way. Become reconciled with those with whom you may have had differences of opinion.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) Quietly take a good look at your current undertakings. Then discuss matters with those who are qualified to make things easier. This brings surcease from any worry.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) Get together with friends and loved ones; make sure you let them know of your devotion to them. Then day is fine for entertainment, romance, sports, recreation, hobbies.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) It is an unusually good day to get together with influential executives, those connected with the government. Plan for the future, combining family happiness, prestige, well-being.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Get out in the world of keen, intense, worthwhile activity. Look for added interests that can bring more understanding in educational, scientific, spiritual outlets. Take trips.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Delve deeply into current associations which can open more financial security for you, your loved ones. Get your money matters on a secure foundation.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You are more en rapport with those who are able to make your entire existence more radiant than it has been for a long time past. Make desirable specific commitments right now.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) Many projects sift through your consciousness to show how you can brighten your apparel to bring out your greatest charm. Good time for any duet, work matters.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) Your charm is at a high level. Be sure to express your affections to others. This also brings your special aptitudes to their notice. Study inventions. Be happy.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) Your living quarters need a face-lifting right now. Thresh out any taut situations with those at your dwelling. Aid them in popularity; entertain.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY...

Wednesday's child is one of those unusually good children who is so endowed with charm and talents that life can be very easy. Benefits flow in with very little effort on this youngster's part. It is necessary to teach early in life that others are not so fortunate nor their conditions so very delightful. Their magnetic qualities should be utilized to bring surcease from worry by lending a helping hand. Fine chart for vocations in entertainment, adornment.

False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser

Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures, banish Denture Breath. Just follow these easy rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath".

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident cleanser is recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates. Polident gets where a brush can't reach.

Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter. D-133

CCF Would Change Tax Distribution

The CCF was held up as the only party which could provide Canada with sound and constructive government by Mrs. May Campbell, federal candidate in Victoria, speaking Monday night at CCF Hall, Cormorant Street.

"For 20 years our research department has studied the economy of Canada," she said. "As a result of those studies we know this country can provide continuous work and wages for all Canadians."

Mrs. Campbell promised a CCF government would curtail special privileges to cartels and monopolies.

"There is no need," she stated, "to curtail social services or to increase taxes. All we need do is distribute the burden of taxation evenly."

The speaker recalled incidents relating to unemployed Canadians in the hungry 30's, and of Conservative Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's campaign of "work and wages."

"What assurance have we," she asked her audience, "that the promises we are now getting from Liberals and Conservatives will end in anything better than those made by Mr. Bennett in the 30's?"

Civilian Inquiry Into Soldier's Death

TORONTO (BUP)—A civilian investigation was promised today into the death of a soldier who collapsed while going over Camp Petawawa's obstacle course as part punishment for being AWOL.

Premier Leslie Frost, acting as attorney-general, said chief coroner Smirle Lawson would conduct the inquiry. He said no date had been set for the necessary autopsy.

Pte. Frederick Joseph Burke of Regina was given seven days' detention and stripped of his corporal's stripes for being a week late from leave. Relatives said he had been sick when he came back.

An army board of inquiry reported that Burke received "normal treatment" and tests showed he was in good health before he was sent to barracks.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held today at Fort Frances, Ont., for blonde singer Florence Forsberg, 25, who was stabbed to death in her New York apartment last week by a crazed suitor. Miss Forsberg, a singer in the chorus of the Broadway show, "Wonderful Town," and understudy for one of the leading roles, was slain by Lester Johnsen, 25, a Korean war veteran who later killed himself.

William Schram Funeral Service

Funeral services were held from McCall Bros. Chapel today for William Nelles Schram, 72, who died Saturday.

Mr. Schram was born in Waterford, Ont., and has been resident of Victoria for the past 33 years.

Mr. Schram built many beautiful homes in this area and Schram Drive in high Quadra was named after him. He was a member of the Crescent Lodge, IOOF, of Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. Schram is survived by his wife and two sons, Frederick Herbert and Arnold Lawrence of Victoria; one brother, Forbes D. Schram, in California.

Old School May Be Kept

Retention of the Kingston Street School building for at least a year was tentatively approved by the Greater Victoria School Board Monday.

Increasing need for accommodation in the area was given in a recommendation to this effect by senior inspector J. F. K. English.

The seven rooms of the new Macdonald Park School will be filled to capacity as soon as it opens, Mr. English reported, an overflow being a distinct possibility. The Kingston Street School could absorb this overflow while part of it might be set aside as an arts and craft centre for the night school program.

The Oak Bay and Gorden Head districts are other areas affected by the accommodation problem. Approximately 156 children drawn from the Willows, Bank Street, Monterey Avenue and Margaret Jenkins Schools will be accommodated in the old Oak Bay High School, which will be classified as an annex to the Monterey Elementary School.

Another 36 children are being transferred from Gordon Head to the Cadboro Bay School. All grade 7 and 8 pupils in the Gordon Head area will be transferred and some pupils from other grades.

Member of SPCA Rites Wednesday

Mrs. Marguerite Louise Gillespie, a noted worker for animal welfare throughout her lifetime, died Monday in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Gillespie is said to have done much for the cause of the SPCA in Victoria and some members had great hopes for the general advancement of the group through her efforts.

She had been a member of the SPCA in Victoria since childhood. Mrs. Gillespie was well known in the East and up to a year or so ago was president of the Toronto Humane Society.

In her younger days, she was a well known horsewoman.

Surviving are her husband, Dugald, of 841 St. Charles and sister, Lady Paddon of Victoria.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Church Wednesday morning at 11.

North Vancouver Recount Disallowed by Judge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Judge Bruce Boyd Monday rejected an application for a judicial recount in North Vancouver riding arising from the June 9 British Columbia election.

Application for the recount was made by Liberal W. R. MacDougall, who lost to Social Crediter George Tomlinson.

Judge Boyd based his decision on the ground that provisions of the Election Act had not been observed. He ruled a recount could not be held because in some cases ballots had not been returned to their original envelopes after they were tallied election night.

An order-in-council passed with the concurrence of all parties last April 15, declared it was impossible to follow the provisions of the act calling for return of the ballots to their original envelopes, and stated that this practice need not be followed.

ULTRA VIRES

Last week Judge L. A. Hanna refused the application of Social Crediter Earle C. Westwood for a recount in Nanaimo-and-the Islands. Mr. Westwood lost out to Dr. Larry Giovando, who was the only Progressive Conservative candidate to win a seat in the election.

Did You Ever See a Sheep's Hair Uncurl in the Rain?

Did you ever ride past a farm on a rainy day and see sheep huddled together? If you went up real close you'd see that in spite of wind and rain, the natural curls and waves of the sheep were not undone by the elements. Yes, the harder it rains, the curlier the sheep's wool becomes. And what happens to your hair in the rain? A slight drizzle and it looks like a dust mop. Now, science knows what makes the sheep luckier than humans. It's LANOLIN, the natural oil that most resembles the oil of your own hair, the life-giving oil that most of us have washed away or dried-up by too many artificial treatments.

NIL-O-NAL Dressed Hair Stays Dressed Even in the Wind and Rain

Now you can replace this vital natural oil with new NIL-O-NAL. It's the closest you can get to pure LANOLIN. All stickiness and odor has been refined away. NIL-O-NAL is clear and greaseless, is absorbed by the hair and scalp and helps keep hair handsomely dressed and neat—and softly radiant, too—even in wind and rain. Try it today! Only $1.79 for 2 oz. jar . . . $3 for 4 oz. jar.

Nervous Upset Increases Distress of Spastic Colon

More inquiries are received by this column on "colitis" than on any other subject. Probably, this is merely a reflection of the vast numbers of people who are afflicted with this condition, better known as spastic colon or irritable bowel. At any rate, no matter what called, the condition to which it refers certainly causes a lot of physical and mental distress.

When a spastic colon is present the wave-like motions of the bowel which carry food and waste through the intestines come too close together and this pushes the contents along too rapidly. The usual result is alternating periods of diarrhea and "constipation," the latter merely reflecting the fact that there is nothing left in the lower bowel to eliminate. The so-called constipation stage frequently gives people the idea that something drastic must be done and a cathartic is taken which makes matters worse by causing the whole vicious cycle to be repeated.

TOO EMOTIONAL

Victims of a spastic colon are almost always nervous and emotional. They get upset easily and whenever this happens, their symptoms get worse. This is caused by the fact that mental strain stimulates the nerves going to the intestines and results in increased wave-like activity. A bloated feeling is common. Gurgling sounds which are caused by churning inside the intestines may be heard for an embarrassing distance. Discomfort and griping over the entire abdomen is the rule.

Exposure to cold, various irritating foods, especially raw fruits and vegetables, may make the condition worse. Cathartics and laxatives are frequently responsible for setting off what might be described as an attack.

A spastic colon is a most uncomfortable condition. When it has not existed too long treatment is fairly effective. This includes strict laxative foods such as raw fruits and vegetables. The use of what is called a bland diet consisting largely of cooked cereals, creamed soups, milk products, eggs, fish and other non-irritating substances and attention to the general health is desirable. Certain drugs may also be helpful.

SUFFERERS CAN HELP

Sufferers who understand the relation between their nerves and the symptoms of irritable colon can also help themselves a great deal by trying to avoid unnecessary annoyance, worry and emotional upsets. If the condition has lasted for a great many years, treatment is complicated, long and often not completely successful.

Even after the disorder seems to be much better, some mental or physical upset or some change in diet may bring on another bout of trouble. This condition is never fatal, does not increase the chances of developing cancer, is not a true inflammation (and therefore should not be called colitis) because the "-itis" part implies inflammation.

Modern Art Talk Scheduled At City Centre

Why modern pictures look as they do will be explained to a Victoria audience Thursday night at the Arts Centre by one of Canada's leading painters, Jack Shadbolt.

Arts Centre curator, Colin Graham said Monday that the meeting will be open to the public.

He described Mr. Shadbolt as "one of the vital and original painters living in Canada today."

Currently in Victoria to instruct at Summer School and at Arts Centre painting classes, Mr. Shadbolt is no stranger here. He spent his youth in Victoria. Later he was one of Canada's official war arusts during World War II.

He has exhibited in Canada, the United States and England and won wide acclaim at a San Francisco show last year.

As well as being a teacher, Mr. Shadbolt is an authority on contemporary poetry, a lecturer on the subject and a magazine contributor. He is active in the Vancouver Art Gallery and the theatre. He is a past president of the Vancouver branch of the National Film Society.

The Thursday meeting starts at 8.15 p.m. and is titled, "The Contemporary Artist's Problem of Form."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

When a gardener becomes acquainted with a race of plants which is easily cultivated in almost any type of soil, the information is gladly passed on to other gardeners. Such is the case with the great family of Dianthus. For years a few plants of different kinds of Dianthus have been grown in our garden, but this season they have really become favorites. The Dianthus family contains not only all the pinks, carnations and sweet williams but also countless alpine and rock garden species.

Hilda

While most of these are hardy perennials, there are also annual forms. The latter are not highly fragrant as are the majority of the others. Fragrance has indeed been the outstanding attribute of pinks and carnations, but as we become more familiar with the individuals we find other qualities.

Among the easy-to-grow garden pinks, there are strains which are free and continuous flowering, infinitely varied in color and form, have greyish foliage throughout winter and are highly fragrant as well.

The rock pinks are varied in color and form also. Some have large flat blooms on stems an inch or two high, others have several tiny blooms on stems six to eight inches tall. Almost as much variation appears among the foliage in the different varieties. Light green, grey and very dark reddish-green are all found.

For bedding, either alone or in combination with other flowers, for the edgings of beds, paths and for wall crevices, no better race of plants can be used.

Free growing without ever becoming a nuisance, cultivation of all Dianthus, except for a few rarities, is simple. Sunshine and well-drained soil are the chief requirements, and a haircut after flowering is an asset to most kinds. This keeps the plants in neat clumps or tufts.

Once established, plants may be increased by cuttings, division, or layering. A few come true from seed, while others vary greatly, but all are of great charm. There can never be too many in the garden, for, apart from their outdoor beauty, most are desirable as cut flowers for indoor decoration.

Trial by combat was an old English custom whereby contesting parties in legal cases fought each other if evidence was inconclusive.

Socred and CCF Splinter Parties Fleming Claims

Social Credit and CCF are "splinter parties" so far as the national election picture is concerned, Progressive Conservative stalwart Donald Fleming, Toronto, said in Victoria today.

He said Social Credit plans to make a big showing in Aug. 10 had "fizzled." In Ontario, he said, where Socreds had intended to run 50 candidates, only 10 have entered the field. The CCF in Eastern Canada, he described as "a spent force."

He predicted no Social Creditters and not more than one CCFer would be elected east of Manitoba.

He said he hoped voters who are opposed to a continuation of Liberal administration would not split their votes on these parties, as they did in the 1949 general election, which saw 75 per cent of the Liberal members elected on minority votes.

City, Esquimalt Measles Increase

A slight increase in the number of measles cases this past week over the previous week was reported Monday by City-Esquimalt health officials.

Forty-eight were reported compared with 40 the previous week, bringing the grand total to date for the City and Esquimalt to 508. Weekly figures were not available from Saanich.

Five cases of chicken pox were reported to City-Esquimalt officials last week.

Kiwanis Invite Others to Aid 'Village'

The Victoria Kiwanis Club has made a first move to extend its Kiwanis Village beyond its own group, president Glenn Hope announced today.

"We are looking for help from other organizations to attempt a city-wide canvass for funds," Hope said.

The first group to take a hand is the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club which has begun a section canvass of the municipality. Members will work on a different section each week.

"We'd welcome help from any other interested group, Mr. Hope reports. "We'd be glad to give them credit. We just want to get the houses out there finished."

The club hopes to send out a small group of its members this week to get a sample of the kind of reception the club can expect from Victoria citizens.

Meanwhile Mr. Hope, who returned to the city last week from the Kiwanis International convention in New York, said the Cedar Hill Road village will receive national publicity in the Kiwanis magazine soon. It has a monthly circulation of 400,000.

'Red Hilde' Outlaws Strikes in E. Germany

Hated Woman Minister Moves to Curb Rebellion

BERLIN (UP)—Strikes were outlawed today in revolt-ridden, Soviet-run East Germany.

The hated woman minister of justice, "Red Hilde" Benjamin, branded strikes "Fascist attempts to overthrow the government."

The East German Red regime attempted to sugar-coat this blow to hard-pressed East German labor with an announcement that Russia will help feed the food-short Soviet zone.

Russia has extended 231,000,000 rubles (about $57,000,000) of credits for food. But the East Germans will be required to repay the Soviets with manufactured goods and labor.

"Red Hilde's" harsh order is designed to assure that East German labor stays on the job to meet the Soviet bill for its help.

In a speech, reported today in the official Communist press, "Red Hilde" warned that jail awaits workers in Communist East Germany who use strikes to protest intolerable working conditions.

She repudiated a ruling made by her predecessor, former justice minister Max Fechner, that Communist workers have the right to strike. That, she said, was an evidence of "weakness which will be corrected."

Her action threw the threat of tough prison sentences over thousands of East German workers who participated in earlier strikes against Red industrial management.

A wave of flash strikes swept the Soviet zone of Germany following Fechner's conciliatory gesture of three weeks ago.

Fechner now is in jail facing charges as an "enemy of the state." He was replaced by "Red Hilde."

Statement Is 'Surrender'

Fechner's statement on strikes, she said, "surrenders to the enemy, gives leniency to provocteurs, spares criminals their just punishment and gives them the possibility to carry on their criminal work."

The former justice minister's strike ruling, made in an interview with the official East German news agency ADN, "caused the unrest to rise up again and caused our state great political and material damage," Frau Benjamin said.

Workers throughout East Germany have been striking and participating in slowdowns to enforce demands for release of comrades arrested in the June 17 revolt, liberation of political prisoners, and new trade union elections to oust Communist officials. Some also have voiced demands for the resignation of the government of Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl.

Since Frau Benjamin took over the justice ministry, Communist courts have imposed drastic sentences on anti-Communists in mass trials. ADN reported Monday night that 16 residents of the Saxony town of Niesky had been sentenced to jail terms ranging from 18 months to life imprisonment for taking part in last month's rebellion.

West Berlin Socialists said Frau Benjamin had 562 persons released by Fechner rearrested as rebels.

Russian Troops Battle Partisans

BERLIN (AP) — The West Berlin newspaper, Nacht Depesche, said today Soviet troops have attacked partisan bands made up of Poles, Czechs and Germans who seized two towns in a former East German region now part of Poland.

This followed a report in Telegraf, another West Berlin newspaper put out by the same company that publishes Nacht Depesche, saying Polish partisans fought a battle with Soviet troops last Thursday in a forest near Niesky, a German town 10 miles from the Niesse River frontier with Poland.

There was no confirmation from Allied sources. They recalled that previous West Berlin rumors of widespread Polish rebellion and martial law in Warsaw and Krakow had been discounted later by Western diplomatic missions in Poland.

This was the Nacht Depesche report: Russian troops supported by jet fighters attacked the partisans. The towns seized were named as Hennersdorf and Seifenhennersdorf, both near Hirschberg in the mountainous Riesenbirge area along the Czech-Polish frontier southeast of Goerlitz. A few renegade Russians have also joined the partisans.

The report in Telegraf: "Many Polish resistance fighters" were wounded and captured by Soviet troops in the battle near Niesky. Soviet military and East German police casualties were treated at Goerlitz.

Nesky broke into the news Monday when the Soviet news agency ADN disclosed 16 of its citizens had been sentenced to prison for burning down the local secret police headquarters and beating Red officials in the June 17 revolt.

New Truce Threat

Rhee Makes Fresh Demands on U.S.

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Wednesday (UP) — The United States today sent a new communication to South Korea's disgruntled President Syngman Rhee in a bid to lift his last-minute threat to balk the signing of a Korean armistice.

Everything else pointed to an early end to the two years of truce negotiations and the savage and costly Korean war.

In London, Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler told the House of Commons the West has hopes that "the agreement can be signed without further delay."

But U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned a Washington press conference Americans should be neither too optimistic or over pessimistic.

Dulles said the chances for a truce hinge on Communist desires for peace.

Sources here believed Rhee's position is equally or more decisive.

Rhee himself was maintaining an ominous silence. But his Foreign Minister Pyung Yung Tai said the South Korean government has sent an urgent cable to Washington demanding clarification of U.N. assurances to the Communists that South Korea will abide by truce terms indefinitely.

He said Washington's answer—now on its way—will determine whether Korea will stand by or renounce its earlier pledge to adhere to the truce.

In Washington, Dulles took the position that Rhee's promises to Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson bound him firmly and without qualification not to obstruct an armistice.

Dulles said he was not sure what the South Korean complaints are about.

Tot Wins Bee-Sting Fight

Stung 50 times by angry bees when she stepped on a nest while picking wild blackberries, three-year-old Karen Olson was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital last week-end in grave condition. But the little Beaver Lake Road girl has won her fight. She was well enough today to go home. Nurse Katherine Pagnan says good-bye to Karen. Hospital officials said it was the "closest call" they have had in numerous summertime mishaps so far this year. (Times Photo.)

GASOLINE, FUEL OIL PRICES UP HALF CENT

Retail gasoline prices increased by half-a-cent a gallon for "regular" and almost a cent for "premium" at one leading oil company's outlets here today and other brand dealers are poised for similar price jumps.

Imperial Oil Company announced from Toronto that price increases resulted because the company is forced to pay more for crude oil. In all provinces except B.C. the increase will be 1.4 cents for the wholesale gallon.

Officials said that other companies will probably follow suit in the next few days.

Shell Oil Company officials in Toronto said that they will probably increase their wholesale price by the end of the week.

In Victoria, Imperial Oil dealers commenced selling "regular" gasoline at 42 cents a gallon, an increase from 41.4 cents. "Premium" gasoline jumped from 43.8 to 44.5 cents at most stations.

Prices for light fuel oils are also advanced half-cent in British Columbia and 1.4 cents on the Prairies.

Kelowna Miss Wins Canuck Beauty Title

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP)—A hazel-eyed brunette from Kelowna, B.C., with a yen for public speaking, horseback-riding and cooking is Miss Canada of 1953.

Kathleen Ann Archibald received top ranking among the 15 contestants at the Miss Canada pageant here Monday night and picked up a $1,000 scholarship to a dramatic school as well as a personal-appearance tour of Canada, a television audition and a free trip to the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, N.J.

Betty Billyard, 23, Niagara Blossom Queen, placed second and Gay Barron, 18, of Toronto, came third.

PM Sees Ambassador To Vatican, Own Flag

St. Laurent Evokes Cheers, Applause With Speech But Warns Canada Not Ready Yet

ST. ANSELME, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent aroused cheers and applause Monday when he told federal election rallies in Quebec that some day Canada will have a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican and a distinctive flag.

Mr. St. Laurent, touring his native province of Quebec, told his listeners in the asbestos-mining town of Thetford Mines that the question of an ambassador to the Vatican is controversial and would raise "a religious quarrel" at present.

Later, in this ancient village in Dorchester county, he told a lively meeting of about 6,000 persons on the parish church grounds that the flag issue would be settled when everyone could agree.

Mr. St. Laurent said these politically controversial questions cannot be settled until there is agreement across the country.

WOMAN QUERIES

He did not repeat his statement on the appointment of a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican during the St. Anselme meeting.

But while another speaker addressed the crowd following Mr. St. Laurent's speech, a woman wearing a white shawl approached the outdoor platform and asked the prime minister: "Tell us about the ambassador to the Vatican."

Mr. St. Laurent looked at her briefly and resumed his listening posture.

When Veterans Minister Lapointe called for three cheers for Mr. St. Laurent, the woman joined in.

The meetings were the main events of a full day for the 71-year-old prime minister, who today begins his fifth day of campaigning in Quebec.

He will visit Nicolet on the St. Lawrence River south shore and then ferry across to the north side of the river for meetings of Joliettes and Shawinigan Falls.

Before an audience of asbestos miners at Thetford Mines, Mr. St. Laurent touched, although sometimes only in passing, on questions that have been lively in Quebec for the past few years.

It was the first time during his campaign that the question of an ambassador to the Vatican was brought up.

Margaret Dances On Roofs Until 4

LONDON (AP). — Princess Margaret celebrated her return from Rhodesia by gaily dancing on two London rooftops until 4 o'clock this morning.

The occasion was a welcome home party given the 22-year-old princess by the Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava at her tiny Knightsbridge apartment.

Because there was not enough room inside for dancing, the marchioness "borrowed" the flat roofs of a house and post office next to her apartment. Workmen erected two giant tents for dancing and refreshments.

The princess, who had apparently shaken off a cold caught while she was in Africa, danced right through the night and outstayed many of the guests.

Princess Margaret may yet win official permission to marry handsome Peter Townsend despite his divorce, a source close to Buckingham Palace says.

The informant, who cannot be identified further, said Monday the Princess has been told of government efforts to overcome constitutional objections to such a marriage.

"Princess Margaret obviously now is in a happier frame of mind," he added. "Every evening since her arrival home from an African tour last Friday she has spent at least an hour writing letters—and she is not ordinarily overfond of letter writing."

RAF Group Capt. Townsend, former equerry to the Royal household, was transferred to Brussels as air attache and left for the Belgian capital just 48 hours before Margaret's return. Some British newspapers charged he had been "exiled."

TO PREVENT OR WIN WAR

Campney Praises Canada's Expanded Defense Program

The efforts of the Department of National Defense have been bent towards preventing war if possible, and winning a war if there is one, Hon. Ralph O. Campney, associate minister of national defense and solicitor-general of Canada, told a meeting in Crystal Garden lower ballroom Monday evening.

Speaking in support of Dr. Frank T. Fairey, Liberal candidate for Victoria in the federal election, Mr. Campney decried "sniping, irresponsible criticism from the leader of the opposition and his supporters."

Said Mr. Campney: "The leader of the opposition has sought to play politics with our defense effort. A special committee on defense expenditure, set up at his instigation, could not bring a single charge or allegation of graft or mismanagement against the department of national defense."

Mr. Campney stated the defense department is responsible for the largest, most diversified, most complicated effort in Canada today, responsible for 50 cents of every dollar spent by the government.

He reminded the audience that continuous research and development is needed, because "obsolete weapons may mean disaster."

"We now have the largest, best equipped, and most effective defense force in our peacetime history," he said. "Opposition attempts to separate the civil administration of the department from the fighting forces are cheap efforts to pay lip service to the armed forces."

The issue of this election, he said, is a contest between performance and promises. The performance of the Liberal government in the past 18 years has led to the "greatest 18 years in Canada's history."

"If the Liberals deserve to be returned to power," he said, "it is on the basis of what we have achieved."

Mr. Campney reviewed the Liberal record, of leading Canada out of the depression; into, through, and out of the greatest war in history; a rehabilitation job on 1,000,000 veterans "not equalled anywhere in the world; and wise leadership through the greatest expansion period in history.

"Look at the leadership of the past in choosing the leadership of the future," he urged.

WIRE BRIEFS

Record Run

PORTLAND (AP) — The record run of blueback salmon continued Tuesday in the Columbia River. The run now totals 221,605, the first time on record that more than 200,000 bluebacks have gone upstream.

Ullyot to Kamloops

Shot in Street

SEATTLE (AP) — Wallace C. Travis, 51, a Boeing Airplane Co. employee, shot and killed his wife, Rowena, 45, before scores ofhorrified shoppers on a busy Seattle street Monday, then fatally wounded himself with the same .22 calibre revolver.

Loggers' Verdict Known Thursday

VANCOUVER (CP)—Official result of a secret ballot of 32,000 coast woodworkers on a unanimous conciliation board award in the IWAs major wage tussle with 158 lumber and logging operators will be announced Thursday.

George Mitchell, district secretary of CIO International Woodworkers of America, said today top officials of the union would meet Thursday to determine results of the ballot and that an announcement would be made "sometime that day."

BEE IN CAR—LEGS IN CASTS

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Mrs. Jean Gemmell was hospitalized today with two broken legs, and all because she shooed a bee out of her car window.

Mrs. Gemmell was driving along a Vancouver street when a pesky little bee popped in her car window. Her frantic attempts to drive it away caused her to leave the wheel for a moment. The car careened into a nearby telephone pole.

BIG FOUR PARLEY HOPE OF BRITISH

Butler Tells House Proposed Foreign Ministers' Conference May Be Prelude to High Level Talks

LONDON (CP)—Britain still hopes for a top-level meeting of the Russian, British, French and American heads of state, acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler told the House of Commons today.

Opening a two-day foreign affairs debate, Butler said Britain hopes the proposed four-power foreign ministers conference on the German and Austrian questions would be a prelude to talks at a higher level.

The proposal for a foreign ministers' meeting in September, to which Russia's reply is still awaited—was made at the recent Washington conference attended by the Marquess of Salisbury, Britain's foreign secretary, John Foster Dulles of the U.S. secretary of state and foreign minister Georges Bidault of France.

The proposal in no way excluded "talks of a wider scope either in personalities or topics," Butler said.

Ranging over a variety of topics, Butler made these points:

1. The Big Three foreign ministers conference in Washington showed that both Britain and the U.S. consider the maintenance of an effective base in the Suez Canal area is essential "in the interests of world peace."

2. Britain is "willing to resume negotiations" on the future of the Suez Canal "whenever the Egyptian government is ready to do so. Meanwhile, we remain resolute and patient."

3. Britain is "rigorously" carrying out the United Nations resolution of May, 1951, barring export of strategic goods to China. But it remained the government's policy to develop trade in non-strategic goods on the grounds that such trade was of advantage to the free world.

CHURCHILL STILL ILL

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill must rest at least one more month before resuming his role of active leadership of the government, an informed source said today.

The source denied persistent reports that U.S. secretary of state John Foster Dulles had scored a victory over Britain's acting foreign secretary Lord Salisbury and sabotaged Churchill's idea of a four-power meeting at the highest level during the "Little Bermuda" conference at Washington.

"The reports are not true," the source said. "Dulles knows Churchill is not well. He knows he could not possibly take part in a four-power meeting. The old man still is not well. He wants at least another month to recover. In the meantime, Dulles knows we must tread water."

B.C. Fire Controlled

CRANBROOK (BUP)—Heavy rains and hard-working fire crews brought a 1,000-acre forest fire southeast of this interior town under control Monday night and some of 300 smokeaters who had fought the blaze since July 12 were laid off.

Canada Files Protest on Import Bans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada has filed a stiff new protest with the U.S. state department against proposed U.S. restrictions on imports of Canadian food and agricultural products.

A note delivered Monday raised objections to proposals submitted to the tariff commission this month affecting imports of oats and ground fish fillets which were described as products of traditional importance to Canada.

Enclosed with a note was a brief of testimony given before the commission by George McIvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board on July 8.

The note said that "traditionally harmonious relations" between the U.S. and Canada might be impaired by continuance of trade restrictions, such as have been imposed or proposed recently.

It was the third Canadian protest of the kind this year. On June 30 there was a protest against restrictions on dairy products, particularly cheddar cheese, which went into effect the following day. An earlier note objected to curbs on imports of dried milk from Canada.

Folks who're doin' th' most yammerin' about th' Princess' private affairs w'd be th' fust t' protest against similar treatment fer themselves.

CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW

Malenkov May Give I. Ivanovich a Break

(For 11 years Eddy Gilmore was AP correspondent in Moscow. He married a Russian dancer in 1943, at a time of wartime amity, and found out late in the 40s that the Soviet government would not allow her to leave that country with their two children. Only recently was this rule relaxed, and Gilmore was able to bring his family out. While they are en route to the United States Gilmore is writing a series of stories about Russia and his experiences there.)

By EDDIE GILMORE

PARIS (AP)—For the first time in years the Kremlin seems to be showing some concern for Ivan Ivanovich, the average Russian.

It's too early to say if this is because the party and the government sincerely want to do something for the people; or because they are afraid of the people, or for both reasons.

But things are happening. And if Georgi Malenkov and the others can hold the galloping Russian Troika in the road, and resist going for one another's throats, things are going to continue to happen . . . I mean things that will make life far easier for the Russian people.

Malenkov is pledged to raise the standard of living. The Russian people have heard that one before, but this time the party and the government are behaving as if it matters somewhat how the people feel about things.

Take the recent city-wide panic in Moscow. I do not believe this story has been reported to the outside world, for the censor was very active with his big Red pencil when I left Moscow.

Here it is:

Toward the last days of June the rumor got out of Moscow that the money was going to be changed again.

We heard it everywhere we went. Moscow had had one devaluation since the war. It was at the half-year, a logical time.

I'd seen devaluation, or reform as they called it, happen before in Moscow. The symptoms were the same. The people knew about it several days in advance.

The subways and the buses and the street cars had no metal money. During the last devaluation metal money was not changed.

Heated arguments took place on the subway. The conductors demanded metal money, or refused to give change. The people offered paper rubles, or three and five-ruble pieces. They'd get a ride and some metal money back in change. But the conductors weren't having any.

The commission stores and state pawnshops were packed and buying was brisk. Everywhere the people were saying: "Have you heard about it? Do you think it's going to happen?"

The last devaluation hurt Ivan Ivanovich plenty. Never a banker at heart, he kept his precious rubles at home. When the government devalued Ivan got one ruble for 10, a poor batting average in any league.

I looked at two banks. Long lines of depositors before the savings account windows. At the last devaluation, the folks who had their rubles in the bank got the new money at one new ruble for one old ruble.

It was a panic, all right, and finally the ministry of finance had to come out with a communique in all papers denying all idea of devaluation, or a change in the money.

That was a rare step. Under Joseph Stalin it would not have happened. The people would have been left to panic. But the Malenkov government assured them. Did it have to? Was it having to answer to a public opinion for the first time since Stalin got his steely grip on the nation? Or was it behaving as any normal government would under the circumstances of a city-wide panic?

You guess. I don't know.

British Charge Six Germans as Spies

BONN, Germany (UP) — Six Germans, including two women, have been arrested by British authorities on charges of spying for the Russians, it was announced today.

The British announcement of the arrests said the six will go on trial in the Ruhr industrial city of Duesseldorf Friday.

One Dead, 6 Wounded in Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—A Korean casualty list today included one man dead of wounds and six wounded. None was from B.C. The last list was issued July 17.

The army list brought to 1,492 total casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action, including 288 dead, 1,065 wounded, 26 missing, 95 injured and 18 captured. In addition the navy has reported three dead and three injured in action, and the air force has reported one missing.

Captain, WO Face Five Charges

HAMILTON (CP)—Five charges have been laid against an army captain and a warrant officer following an investigation into trucking contracts at Hagersville army depot, Crown prosecutor Bain Munro of Cayuga, Ont., reported today.

Mr. Munro said Capt. Charles Harris faces four charges and WO. Edward Parton one. The charges were laid by the RCMP under a section of the Criminal Code which deals "with offences committed by persons in government service," he said.

U.S. Approval of Halibut Pact Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate approval of a halibut fishing agreement between the United States and Canada was recommended today by the Senate foreign relations committee.

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep.-Wis.), said the revised agreement would permit an estimated increase of $1,000,000 a year, or 8 per cent, in fishermen's earnings by allowing more than one open season a year in any one area.

India Asks Protection for Troops

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India disclosed tonight she has asked both the United States and Communist China for assurances that her troops appointed to supervise a Korean armistice will be free to function with "self-respect and dignity."

Strikes Illegal In E. Germany

'Red Hilde,' Dreaded Justice Chief, Moves to Keep Men at Work

BERLIN (UP)—Strikes were outlawed today in revolt-ridden, Soviet-run East Germany.

The hated woman minister of justice, "Red Hilde" Benjamin, branded strikes "Fascist attempts to overthrow the government."

The East German Red regime attempted to sugar-coat this blow to hard-pressed East German labor with an announcement that Russia will help feed the food-short Soviet zone.

Russia has extended 231,000,000 rubles (about $57,000,000) of credits for food. But the East Germans will be required to repay the Soviets with manufactured goods and labor.

"Red Hilde's" harsh order is designed to assure that East German labor stays on the job to meet the Soviet bill for its help.

In a speech, reported today in the official Communist press, "Red Hilde" warned that jail awaits workers in Communist East Germany who use strikes to protest intolerable working conditions.

She repudiated a ruling made by her predecessor, former justice minister Max Fechner, that Communist workers have the right to strike. That, she said, was an evidence of "weakness which will be corrected."

Her action threw the threat of tough prison sentences over thousands of East German workers who participated in earlier strikes against Red industrial management.

A wave of flash strikes swept the Soviet zone of Germany following Fechner's conciliatory gesture of three weeks ago.

NOW IN JAIL

Fechner now is in jail facing charges as an "enemy of the state." He was replaced by "Red Hilde."

Fechner's statement on strikes, she said, "surrenders to the enemy, gives leniency to provocateurs, spares criminals their just punishment and gives them the possibility to carry on their criminal work."

BERLIN (AP) — The West Berlin newspaper, Nacht Depesche, said today Soviet troops have attacked partisan bands made up of Poles, Czechs and Germans who seized two towns in a former East German region now part of Poland.

This followed a report in Telegraf, another West Berlin newspaper put out by the same company that publishes Nacht Depesche, saying Polish partisans fought a battle with Soviet troops last Thursday in a forest near Niesky, a German town 10 miles from the Niesse River frontier with Poland.

There was no confirmation from Allied sources.

New Truce Threat

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Wednesday (UP) — The United States today sent a new communication to South Korea's disgruntled President Syngman Rhee in a bid to lift his last-minute threat to balk the signing of a Korean armistice.

Everything else pointed to an early end to the two years of truce negotiations and the savage and costly Korean war.

In London, Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler told the House of Commons the West has hopes that "the agreement can be signed without further delay."

But U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned a Washington press conference Americans should be neither too optimistic or over pessimistic.

Dulles said the chances for a truce hinge on Communist desires for peace.

Sources here believed Rhee's position is equally or more decisive.

Rhee himself was maintaining an ominous silence. But his Foreign Minister Pyung Yung Tai said the South Korean government has sent an urgent cable to Washington demanding clarification of U.N. assurances to the Communists that South Korea will abide by truce terms indefinitely.

He said Washington's answer—now on its way—will determine whether Korea will stand by or renounce its earlier pledge to adhere to the truce.

In Washington, Dulles took the position that Rhee's promises to Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson bound him firmly and without qualification not to obstruct an armistice.

Dulles said he was not sure what the South Korean complaints are about.

Tops Everything Says King of World Golfers

NEW YORK (UP)—New York turned out 100,000 strong today to welcome home the king of the world's golfers, Bantam Ben Hogan.

Lining both sides of Broadway from the Battery to City Hall, the throng cheered, whistled and shouted "Hi, Ben," as the mighty mite of the fairways was showered with the traditional ticker-tape New York reception for winning the British Open golf championship.

According to parade veterans, the crowd showed the most enthusiasm of any welcoming reception since that accorded general of the army Douglas MacArthur in April, 1951.

Hogan, beaming broadly and dressed in a tropical gray worsted, waved constantly as the motorcade followed the traditional parade route along the avenue of heroes.

THIRD IN HISTORY

It marked the first time in 21 years, and only the third time in history, that a golfer had been so honored. The first civic reception for a golfer was in 1930 when Bobby Jones came back from Britain with the "triple crown," having won the British amateur and open championships after winning the U.S. open. The next one was two years later when Gene Sarazen came home with the British open title.

Only Jones, who did it twice, Sarazen and Hogan ever have won the U.S. and British open titles in the same year.

He rode on the tonneau of the first car. Sitting with him were Horton Smith, president of the Professional Golfers' Association; Isaac Granger, vice-president of the United States Golf Association, and Grover Whalen, New York's official greeter.

His wife, Valerie, followed in a second car with Joseph Dey, executive secretary of the USGA.

The tributes started rolling in as Hogan reached the flag-bedecked platform erected in front of City Hall. Police, who estimated that 100,000 lined the parade route, said the crowd at the City Hall plaza was more than 5,000.

Among the tributes were a telegram from President Eisenhower, who congratulated Hogan on being "an envoy extraordinary in the business of making friends for America."

"Millions of Americans would like to participate with the New Yorkers today who are extending their traditional welcome on your return from your magnificent victory," the president, an ardent golfer, telegraphed Hogan. "We are proud of you not only as a great competitor and a master of your craft, but also as an envoy extraordinary in the business of building friendship for America."

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri presented Hogan with two dozen roses and a scroll for his "inspiration to the youth of the nation."

All of those tributes drew cheers, but the greatest of them came when Hogan responded.

Quietly and in an emotion-packed voice, he said:

"It would take me forever to tell you what I have in my heart today."

"Only in New York City can one be honored such as Valerie and I have today. Coming down in the car to get into the parade, you just wanted to cry. This, of course, tops anything I've ever received. A lot of big and better things have happened to me since I was a kid selling newspapers, and this caps it all.

"I've only my thanks to Valerie and you all. Thanks again. God bless you all."

BIG FOUR PARLEY HOPE OF BRITISH

LONDON (CP)—Britain still hopes for a top-level meeting of the Russian, British, French and American heads of state, acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler told the House of Commons today.

Opening a two-day foreign affairs debate, Butler said Britain hopes the proposed four-power foreign ministers conference on the German and Austrian questions would be a prelude to talks at a higher level.

GASOLINE, FUEL OIL PRICES UP HALF CENT

Retail gasoline prices increased by half-a-cent a gallon for "regular" and almost a cent for "premium" at one leading oil company's outlets here today and other brand dealers are poised for similar price jumps.

In Victoria, Imperial Oil dealers commenced selling "regular" gasoline at 42 cents a gallon, an increase from 41.4 cents. "Premium" gasoline jumped from 43.8 to 44.5 cents at most stations.

Prices for light fuel oils are also advanced half-cent in British Columbia and 1.4 cents on the Prairies.

Imperial Oil Company announced from Toronto that price increases resulted because the company is forced to pay more for crude oil. In all provinces except B.C. the increase will be 1.4 cents for the wholesale gallon.

Officials said that other companies will probably follow suit in the next few days.

Shell Oil Company officials in Toronto said that they will probably increase their wholesale price by the end of the week.

TO PREVENT OR WIN WAR

Campney Praises Canada's Expanded Defense Program

The efforts of the Department of National Defense have been bent towards preventing war if possible, and winning a war if there is one, Hon. Ralph O. Campney, associate minister of national defense and solicitor-general of Canada, told a meeting in Crystal Garden lower ballroom Monday evening.

Speaking in support of Dr. Frank T. Fairey, Liberal candidate for Victoria in the federal election, Mr. Campney cried "sniping, irresponsible criticism from the leader of the opposition and his supporters."

Said Mr. Campney: "The leader of the opposition has sought to play politics with our defense effort. A special committee on defense expenditure, set up at his instigation, could not bring a single charge or allegation of graft or mismanagement against the department of national defense."

Mr. Campney stated the defense department is responsible for the largest, most diversified, most complicated effort in Canada today, responsible for 50 cents of every dollar spent by the government.

He reminded the audience that continuous research and development is needed, because "obsolete weapons may mean disaster."

"We now have the largest, best equipped, and most effective defense force in our peacetime history," he said. "Opposition attempts to separate the civil administration of the department from the fighting forces are cheap efforts to pay lip service to the armed forces."

The issue of this election, he said, is a contest between performance and promises. The performance of the Liberal government in the past 18 years has led to the "greatest 18 years in Canada's history."

"If the Liberals deserve to be returned to power," he said, "it is on the basis of what we have achieved."

Mr. Campney reviewed the Liberal record, of leading Canada out of the depression; into, through, and out of the greatest war in history; a rehabilitation job on 1,000,000 veterans "not equalled anywhere in the world; and wise leadership through the greatest expansion period in history.

"Look at the leadership of the past in choosing the leadership of the future," he urged.
